NAZI FRONTAL ATTACK THROWN BACK

Britain Drops Plans For War Of Long Duration

Assault On Maginot Line Repulsed With Heavy Enemy Losses

BRITAIN SENDS FRESH TROOPS TO AID FRANCE

New Contingents Pouring Across Channel To Join Battle

By WALLACE CARROLL
British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, June 14.—Great Britain rushed thousands of troops, airplanes, tanks and guns across the English Channel today to help save France.

Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert predicted in a radio broadcast the German invasion of Britain might come without further notice.

"And if it does take place," he said, "and the Germans launch a combined sea and air attack against England, it is unlikely that we can prevent all German troops from reaching our shores."

A SOUTHEAST COAST PORT, IN ENGLAND, June 14.— New contingents of the Second British Expeditionary Force crossed the channel to France in large numbers today to join the battle against Adolf Hitler's armies.

War material also was moving through this port toward France and British officers said that both men and weapons were moving in "enormous" numbers.

I saw one transport ship draw up along the dock just as a train came alongside. From the train poured steel-helmeted and fully-equipped British troops. Within a few minutes they were marching up the gangway of the ship.

Ten minutes later another train was alongside and in another brief period still more troops were aboard.

This was but one of many ships

Pilot Officer Born In City Is Decorated

LONDON, June 14—Pilot Officer William Lidstone McKnight of Calgary, who shot down four German planes in two days, one after a long chase over the enemy lines, was rewarded for his daring with the Distinguished Flying Cross today.

McKnight, whose father lives on Alexandra Crescent, was not satisfied after downing three planes in one day. On the way back from the successful chase of the last Messerschmitt he encountered a convoy of German guns. The 22-year-old Canadian swooped low over the enemy, causing heavy casualties before running out of ammunition.

The announcement said that young McKnight, a native of Edmonton, showed "exceptional skill and courage as a pilot."

French Army Of Paris Withdraws, Counter-Attacking At Same Time—Capital Occupied By German Forces

LONDON, June 14—Harold Nicolson, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of information, predicted tonight that Hitler would soon—perhaps during the next few days—"Launch his peace offensive."

TOURS, France, June 14.—The French army of Paris withdrew tonight, counter-attacking as they went, while other forces threw back with "heavy losses" a Nazi frontal attack on the Maginot Line.

The French evening communique says: "From the sea to the Argonne the battle continues on the whole front, although at certain points with less violence. The retirements ordered, notably that of the army of Paris, as announced in this morning's communique, have been carried out conforming to plans.

"Our troops have counter-attacked several times.

"The enemy this morning delivered a violent attack against our positions west of the Saar, using tanks and airplanes. They were repulsed with heavy losses.

French Warships In Action

"During the night of June 13-14 a special formation of naval aviation commanded by Capt. Daileire bombed and set fire to reservoirs of liquid fuel in the region of Venice.

"Another formation dropped tracts on Rome.

"Our warships bombarded industrial establishments and the railway line along the Italian coast."

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, June 14.—The French government has left the Tours region for a city farther to the southwest, it was disclosed today.

British United Press, Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, June 14.—A French radio station broadcast today in that language that the French government had agreed with the military authorities to continue the struggle to the end. The station said that the French were withdrawing in good order south of Paris, destroying munitions dumps as they went.

TOURS, France, June 14.—Exhausted French armies, without reserves of men or material, fell back fighting today against the Nazi tide that threatens to flank the Maginot Line.

As the Germans marched into abandoned and lifeless Paris, it was disclosed that the French government had withdrawn from Tours to a city farther southwest to escape the approaching tentacles of the vast German encircling movement around the already-captured capital.

On the western end of the front, armored units supported now by large infantry forces, have begun to over-run French defending forces, a military spokesman said.

Nazis Push Toward Romilly, St. Dizier

On the eastern extremity of the front, he said, "our divisions have until today succeeded in holding intact the pivot of the Maginot Line at Montmedy and in holding the German drive in the Argonne and in eastern Champagne,

$52,000,000 Being Spent On Schools For Air Training

OTTAWA, June 14.—Outlining a building plan costing about $52,000,000 in connection with the Commonwealth Air Training plan, Air Minister Power Thursday asked the House of Commons to co-operate with him by not making demand that these training schools and associated activities be placed in certain specified localities.

The schools, to be completed by next September, were being placed at the places considered most suitable by technical officers.

"It is not only possible but highly probable certain localities will not get the buildings they desire," Mr. Power said. He asked municipal and provincial authorities not to make representations for special consideration.

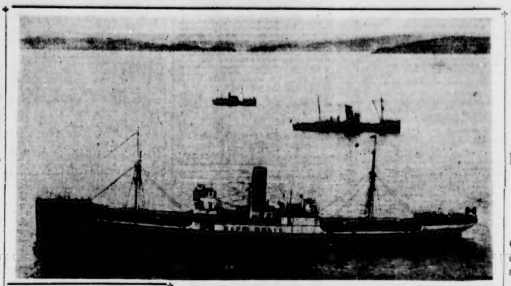

Such representations "should not and will not" be permitted to change the decisions reached by the government on advice of technical officers.

"GET ON WITH IT"

"In the words of Herbert Morrison in England, 'Let's get on with it,'" said Mr. Power.

Munitions Minister Howe said the first 30 or 40 contracts in connection with the air training scheme had been awarded by com-

BRITISH BOMB MAKES HIT ON SCHARNHORST

German Battleship Struck Abaft Funnel In Trondheim Fjord

LONDON, June 14—The Admiralty announced today that an airplane of the fleet air arm scored a hit with a 'heavy bomb' on the German battleship Scharnhorst in Trondheim Fjord, Norway, early Thursday.

The announcement said:

"Aircraft of the fleet air arm carried out an attack on German naval units in Trondheim Fjord early yesterday morning.

"Information has now been received that one hit abaft the funnel was obtained with a heavy bomb on the battleship Scharnhorst. It is also reported that possibly a second hit was registered on the same ship".

The Scharnhorst has figured in the news twice since the Norwegian invasion. She was engaged in a running battle by the battlecruiser Renown early in April and was severely hit. But she escaped in a snowstorm and apparently has been repaired. Last week, according to a German account, she took part in the sinking of the aircraft carrier Glorious.

PREMIER KING GIVES PLEDGE FULL SUPPORT

Resources Of Whole American Continent Declared For Allies

OTTAWA, June 14—Pledging the "unwavering support" of Canada in the present struggle, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons today "I believe I can say to Premier Reynaud of France that the resources of the whole American continent will be thrown in on the side of the Allies."

The prime minister made his declaration after putting on the House record a copy of Winston Churchill's pledge to France yesterday.

Mr. King said he had informed Premier Reynaud that the people of Canada had heard "with deep emotion" the various broadcasts of the French premier and watched "with the pride of kinamen" the gallant stand of the French armies.

Every word in Mr. Churchill's message to France yesterday, Mr. King said Mr. Reynaud "eloquently expresses the passion and faith of the Canadian people. Canada pledges to France as she has to Britain, her unwavering support to the utmost limits of her power and resources."

He said he believed this would be true of the entire North American continent.

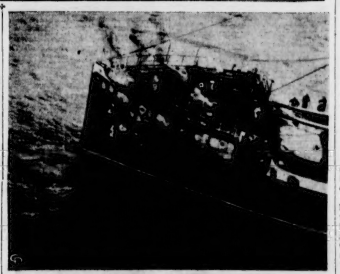

Commenting on the situation, the prime minister mentioned suggestions that the war might bring a union of the French and British nations. Canada would rejoice at such an outcome, Mr. King said.

Attempt To Scuttle Ship Foiled

An attempt on the part of the crew of the Italian freighter Capo Noli to scuttle the ship in the St. Lawrence river was foiled by the Canadian minesweeper Bras d'Or which had shadowed the Italian vessel from Montreal just before Italy declared war on the Allies. The Capo Noli's crew set her afire and ran her aground when the Bras d'Or foiled the attempt to burn the ship and took the crew prisoners. The bow of Capo Noli, showing the damage by the fire, is shown below, with the Canadian vessel shown in the background, top.

France's Plight Is Forcing U.K. To Go "All Out"

Fund Of Money and Credit Now Released For Purchase In U.S. For Anything Which Will Convey Or Fire Explosives

LONDON, June 14.—The plight of France has caused Great Britain to drop her plans for a long war and go "all out" with her resources, sources close to the government said today.

This releases a fund of money and credit for purchase in the United States of anything which will convey or fire explosives. The fund originally was allocated for future years.

As a result of the change in policy, these sources said, Britain is giving the United States a blank cheque, in effect, for any kind of useable war material she can provide.

Everything already found purchasable in arsenals, National Guard units and elsewhere is being sent.

No program aimed at later production will be permitted to stand in the way of the fullest possible effort now, these sources declared.

This is partly the result of the loss of Allied resources because of the widening Nazi hold on France. From 75 to 80 per cent of France's steel producing plants now are in German hands, these sources said, and the same is true of many factories producing war material.

FACTORIES IN SOUTH

They added, fortunately for the Allies, most of the French factories producing ammunition are in the south.

The government is not so much concerned momentarily about the United States' production capacity about the material there already manufactured, they said.

For instance, they explained, the British Expeditionary Force's loss of 1,000 field guns in the withdrawal from Flanders has left few in this country for the enormous army which must be put into the field.

The situation with regard to rifles is not so acute, they said, but the demands of the local defence volunteers—the home guard against possible German invasion—have taken a large part of the supply.

TAKE MACHINE TOOLS

While she will take all that the United States can send, and urges the cutting of red tape, these sources said Britain's own stepped-up production had vastly expanded her purchase of machine tools from

President Scoffs At Hitler's Statement—Points To Record

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Presidents Roosevelt repeated today that all possible help is being extended to the Allies and pointed to Hitler's record in response to a report that the German chancellor had said invasion of the western hemisphere was grotesque.

Mr. Roosevelt was told at a press conference that Hitler had called the possibility of Germany invasion of the Americas "grotesque" in an interview with a newspaperman

BRINGS RECOLLECTIONS

Asked for comment, the president said he could give none except to say "that it brings up recollections."

He authorized direct quotation.

He added that his remarks could be enlarged on with dates and nations, going back over quite a period of years.

The president was asked whether he believed the United States could "extend its material resources to the Allies in sufficient volume and sufficient speed to save them."

He did not reply directly, asserting it would take two hours to answer the inquiry.

NO SECOND APPEAL

He said, also, that he had received no second direct appeal from Premier Paul Reynaud of France for "clouds" of airplanes and further assistance against the German foe.

(Reynaud said in a speech yesterday that the Allies needed "clouds" of airplanes from across the Atlantic).

If any such request has been forwarded, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, it has not been received.

Mr. Roosevelt announced two petitive tender on a unit basis.

It was found then that the entire program would require use of all the equipment in the industry. For the balance of contracts, allocation was made on a basis of the equipment available to each contractor, paid on the unit basis established in each locality by tender.

Mr. Howe added that every contractor with suitable equipment was now "hooked to capacity" with work for the air training scheme.

After outlining methods by which sites of landing fields and training schools were selected, Mr. Power said certain sums had been allotted by the department of national defence for air to the department of transport for development work.

These sums would be spent at the following western Canada points on airport projects either already started or to start in the next three weeks:

TOTAL FOR BUILDINGS

This means a grand total for building of $19,745,000, "all of which will be under construction within the next six weeks," said Mr. Power.

"In the case of air observer and elementary flying training schools, the anticipated cost of services is included in the estimates.

The totals referred to show the combined value "of contracts which have been awarded and those yet to be awarded. It should be noted that all contracts referred to are expected to be let by July 1, 1940."

Mr. Power said construction was also being undertaken for the purpose of production, repair and overhaul of aircraft and for this $5,000,000 was recently transferred from the defence department for air war appropriation.

In addition to the works connected with the air training plan it was proposed to spend about $7,600,000 for construction requirements of the home war establishment of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Outlines Air Plan

HON. C. G. POWER, acting minister of national defence who stated that air schools costing $52,000,000 will be completed by next September. He asked that no demands be made for placing these air centres in specific localities.

TURKEY FEELS SHE SOON WILL FIGHT ITALY

Newspapers In Istanbul Cynical About Duce's Assurances

By HUGO SPECK

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

ISTANBUL, Turkey, June 14.—Newspapers have begun to express the possibility that Turkey may be involved in the war against Italy. They took a cynical attitude on Italian Premier Benito Mussolini's assurances that the countries bordering the eastern Mediterranean, including Turkey, would not become war theatres.

"There is no one who attaches any importance to the German and Italian assurances," the Yenisabah said.

"We think Italy went to unnecessary trouble to give assurances to the countries bordering on the eastern Mediterranean. We do not believe that any of the countries he (Mussolini) mentioned has taken his words seriously, and they commit a grave imprudence if they neglect measures of precaution and defense."

ITALY WILL PAY DEARLY

The newspaper Ikdam said: "Italy will pay dearly for the great mistake she has made." Ikdam doubted that Turkey "would escape for long" being drawn into the complications resulting from the Italian declaration of war.

Mobilization of troops was being speeded up throughout Turkey, private notification, authoritative sources said.

The cabinet met yesterday afternoon, but no communique was issued and officials were secretive. Premier Refik Saydam presided.

It was assumed that the cabinet was still awaiting replies as to Russia's attitude with respect to the new situation.

At the same time Turkey re-affirmed the alliance and the Turkish press printed bitter attacks against Italy.

His Majesty told Cammiade: "I am proud to have such a man in the British forces."

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, June 14. — Bishop David Toews, chairman of the conference of Mennonite churches, representing 40,000 Mennonites in Canada, is here to discuss with Prime Minister King and other members of the government a plan worked out by these churches to raise money to aid war refugees, particularly refugee children. Bishop Toews has received every encouragement from the government.

RESERVES OF MOISTURE ON PRAIRIE GOOD

Rein and Cool Nights Have Helped Growing Conditions

WINNIPEG, June 14.—Reserves of moisture over the western prairies raise the crop outlook across the west to a high level, the Canadian Pacific Railway department of agriculture reports after its weekly survey released today.

Moderate to heavy rains in Manitoba and Saskatchewan and light to heavy rains in Alberta throughout the week with cool nights have made absorption gradual and deepened the moisture reserve so much needed in Saskatchewan at such points as Regina, Estevan, Moose Jaw, Assiniboia, Shaunavon, Swift Current and Elbow, names synonymous with drought for many years, received from one to three inches of rainfall.

FAVORABLE

With the exceptions of the northcentral Saskatchewan and southern Alberta, which still need more rain, the report says conditions are good to excellent and the June crop outlook very favorable.

South of the C.P.R. main line, crop conditions are especially promising. Seeding of coarse grains is now complete in the west and summerfallow fields are being cultivated.

UNIFORMLY GOOD

Wheat, favored in rooting and stooling because of the cool weather, is uniformly good in stand and color and other grains have benefitted similarly. Manitoba's average wheat stand is approximately eight and a half inches; Saskatchewan's six and a half, and Alberta's about six inches.

Fall rye shows good prospects.

East in Alberta and west in Saskatchewan in the southern stretches severe grasshopper damage is reported and scattered sections of Manitoba and central Saskatchewan the pest is appearing. In all these points a vigorous poisoning campaign is underway. Pasturage is improved by rains.

Dynamite Blast Kills Miners At Goldfields

GOLDFIELDS, Sask., June 14—Paul Steinberg, 27, and Arthur Allard, employees of the Box mine at Goldfields, were killed early Thursday when three shots of dynamite exploded as they were tamping holes on the first level of the mine. Night crews at the mine heard the explosion and hurried to the level where the bodies were found. No inquest will be held. Steinberg came to Goldfields from Saskatoon, while Allard was a former resident of Eckville, Alta.

ITALY MAKES PLANE FORAYS IN WIDE ZONES

Fascists Claim Armies Soon Will Be On March

ROME, June 14—Italy waged war in half a dozen scattered zones today, and Fascists claimed their armies would be on the march before long.

On the third day since Italy declared war, King Victor Emmanuel called upon all the peoples of the new Roman empire to put everything they have into the conflict—"For the cause of justice and Italy's own independence."

(The only report of action by Italian land forces came from Cairo, and said British troops took 62 prisoners in a skirmish with Italians near the Egyptian-Libyan border.)

CLAIM FORAYS

The Italian high command claimed that in addition to bombing Malta, the Italian air force had made forays on two of France's great naval bases, Bizerte, in Tunisia and Toulon, in France.

(These claims have not been confirmed by the French).

In the Libya and Ethiopian theatres of war, Italians claimed British air raids ended Thursday night.

(The air ministry in London said the R.A.F. bombed Assab on the Red Sea destroying a power house, a petrol dump and barracks. Dire-dawa, in Ethiopia, was attacked and a munition dump blown up.)

ACTION IMMINENT

The Milan newspaper Corriere Della Sera claimed the entrance of the Italian army into action, presumably against France, was imminent.

The Italians claimed their submarines torpedoed an enemy cruiser and a tanker of undisclosed nationality. (Allied sources did not confirm these claims). A small Italian minesweeper was acknowledged sunk by British bombing planes at Tobruk, Libya.

A radio announcement said the minister from Eire had informed Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano that Eire would maintain neutrality.

Jail Urged For Several Peers By Lord Marley

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, June 14.—Lord Marley said in the House of Lords Thursday that several peers should be put under lock and key "notably those who have been so closely personally connected with Hitler, either through their families or otherwise."

Marley said he was glad the government temporarily had under custody one un-named but well-known person who, the Lord said, had been interned and a member of the House of Commons who was a party leader in Scotland.

Marley's statement recalled that Sir Oswald Moseley, leader of the British Fascists and Capt. Archibald Henry Maule Ramsay, M.P., were arrested several weeks ago.

R.A.F. ACCEPTS AIRPLANE BUT REJECTS PILOT

British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

GUERNSEY, Channel Islands, June 14.—Douglas Fawcett, 74-year-old author and qualified pilot, has a grouch on the R.A.F.

He offered himself and his private plane on the outbreak of war to the country. The R.A.F. accepted his plane with thanks—but not its pilot.

Mr. Fawcett fails to see why. He is in perfect health and has been passed out as an acrobatic flyer. And he has unlimited zeal for his country. The R.A.F. appreciates all this—but still only wants Mr. Fawcett's plane.

FALSE NOTICES SENT TO SCARE SOLDIERS' KIN

OTTAWA, June 14—Several false casualty messages have been sent to relatives of soldiers in the 1st Division Canadian Active Service Force, evidently the work of enemy agents seeking to have the government issue an official statement of troop disposition, it was learned Thursday.

Most recent case was that of a Canadian in New York who received a trans-Atlantic telephone call purported to be from the British war office telling him his son with the 1st Division had been killed in action. A check up proved the information was erroneous and no call had been made by the war office.

A defence department spokesman here said that no casualty messages relating to members of the Canadian army, navy or air force serving with Canadian units overseas should be believed unless it comes from the national defence department here.

Official reports of casualties first will be received here at the records office and the next of kin will be notified before such casualties are made public.

Paper Staff Is Smacked Around In Car Mishaps

MEDICINE HAT, June 14.—Fate played a strange hand here last night when a car driven by Leonard Downing, member of the Medicine Hat News job department, struck A. J. N. Terrill, editor of the News, while Bob Tufts, News sports editor, was driving his car not 20 feet behind the Downing vehicle. Ironically enough, Downing's father, also of the News staff, is still seriously ill as a result of an almost identical accident ten weeks ago within a few feet of the scene of Thursday's mishap.

The accident occurred at 11:30 p.m. Terrill, crossing the street, apparently failed to see Downing's car approaching from the right at a slow rate of speed and stepped into the right front bumper. He fell heavily to the pavement. He was taken to the hospital and found he was suffering two broken ribs, a cut on the head and severe shock.

ENVOYS NOW PRISONERS IN VATICAN CITY

French Ambassador, British Minister Seek Exile In Pope's Palace

VATICAN CITY, June 14.—The French ambassador and the British minister to the Holy See yesterday became voluntary prisoners, closely watched to forestall any spying on Italy, within the walls of the 13-acre Vatican City for duration of the war.

They will be unable to leave their refuge in the sovereign state within Rome. A competent source disclosed the anti-espionage guard on the diplomatic Count Vladimir D'Ormesson and Sir Francis D'Arcy Osborne. All their visitors will be examined closely.

The two will continue use of diplomatic mail privileges, which means inviolability from Italian eyes, the informant said.

Meanwhile, L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican newspaper, published an account of how it would be forced to eliminate war news from its columns.

Italian authorities refused to allow circulation of French and British war communiques, which L'Osservatore has been printing.

The paper failed to appear Wednesday when authorities decided to suspend publication for duration of the war. But they finally decided at noon today to continue with publication as a strictly religious paper, although its masthead still carries its description as a "political religious daily."

Fuel for Vatican automobiles has been rationed for several months. Food rationing has not been started for the more than 700 inhabitants, half of whom are Ecclesiastics.

LIVESTOCK MEN TOLD TO AVOID OVERPRODUCTION

CALGARY, June 14.—Individual members of Alberta's livestock industry Thursday were advised to analyse their own situation as to feed and pasturage and avoid overproduction.

Substituting for Hon. D. B. Mullen, provincial minister of agriculture, J. R. Sweeney, his deputy, reminded the 44th annual convention of the Western Stock Growers' Association at the opening of their sessions here that the present war may be a long one; that this province cannot stop the call of a heavy surplus, and that each member should plan a reasonable program in relation to what is required at home, overseas and the outlet offered by the United States.

Meeting under conditions described as vastly different than a year ago and vitally affecting the industry," members of the pioneer cattlemen's association—older than the province itself—were welcomed by Mayor Andrew Davison and Fred Stapley, president of Calgary Board of Trade.

Increasing membership lists and the most healthy financial condition since the organization was formed 44 years ago was reported by President James Mitchell as the annual convention got under way.

LONDON, June 14.—Export of all classes of goods from Britain to Bulgaria, Greece, Hungary, Rumania, Switzerland, Yugoslavia and the Black Sea ports of Russia was prohibited yesterday except under a board of trade license.

American Heroines Of Blitzkrieg

Anne Morgan, sister of J. P. Morgan, international financier, is shown here with two of her aides, volunteers of the American Friends of France. This group of gallant women have been in the thick of the blitzkrieg since the morning the Germans invaded the Low Countries. Under continuous bombardment the Friends of France evacuated thousands of refugees from Belgian and French villages, spending sleepless nights and eatless days. Many of their ambulances were bombed and their drivers are missing, but Miss Morgan and her aides still carry on. At left here is Eva Drexel Dahlgren, of Philadelphia; at right, Rose Dolan, also of Philadelphia.

Behind The News

By The Canadian Press

PARIS—originally a fortified Gallic town on an island in the river Seine—has been burned, fought over, besieged and torn by revolution at intervals for 15 centuries, but only once in the last century has it known the heel of a foreign conqueror.

On Jan. 28, 1871, after a bombardment that lasted 3½ months and laid waste large sections of the city, the invading German legions under Bismarck stamped through the capital to write a bitter page of history which the French people have never forgotten.

Paris emerged from its ruins a newer and finer city, but 53 years later, in the fall of 1914, it was faced with a repetition of this experience as the German armies of Kaiser Wilhelm II stormed their way through Belgium to within 20 miles of its gates.

ALWAYS IN WAR ZONE

On Sept. 2 of that year the government fled the city for Bordeaux and did not return until four months later when the battle of the Marne relieved the capital from immediate pressure. Until the end of the war, however, Paris remained virtually in the war zone.

German aircraft bombed the city in August and October, 1914, and many times in the succeeding years of the war.

Near the end of 1917 an improved type of German plane, the Gotha, systematically raided the city, and in March, 1918, a long-range gun—the "Big Bertha"—shelled Paris from a distance of 75 miles. One shell, which fell into a church on Good Friday, caused 160 casualties.

Altogether 266 persons were killed in air raids on Paris during the first Great War, and 603 others were wounded.

At present Paris has a population of approximately 2,870,000 and is the world's fifth largest city.

THREE DISTINCT PARTS

In the middle ages the city, occupied during the preceding centuries by the Romans, the Goths and the Normans, consisted of three distinct parts: the Cite, on the islands in the Seine; the Ville, or right bank, and the Quarter Latin, on the left bank.

The political life of the city really began in the 14th century, during which it was shaken by the one Hundred Years War.

A new era of prosperity was inaugurated with the accession of Henry IV of Navarre in 1589, followed by a temporary setback during the revolution. Paris awoke to new glory under Napoleon, who spent more than $20,000,000 on construction in 12 years.

His downfall retarded the continued growth of the capital, and it was reserved for Napoleon III to restore the city to its old eminence ...which remained undisturbed until it fell before the Germans in the Franco-Prussian war in 1871.

NAZI GERMANY SYMPATHIZERS RE-INTERNED

Justice Minister Lapointe Tells Of Cases Questioned

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, June 14.—Two German sympathisers of the Nazi government released from internment in Western Canada, and whose cases have been subject of questions in the House of Commons, have been re-interned, Justice Minister Lapointe told the House of Commons Thursday.

The cases involved were in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, the Minister indicated.

He did not mention names but it was assumed the Saskatchewan reference was to Alois N. Schneider. In debate on Defence of Canada regulations earlier this week, M. J. Coldwell (CCF., Rosetown-Biggar), referred to Schneider, describing him as a supporter of the Liberal party who worked during last winter's election campaign.

NOW IN CAMP

This man was released in December, the minister said. If he served in the campaign he had not improved his case, the Minister said, "because he has been re-interned and is now in camp. I had no qualms of conscience in that case.

This man had been reinterned because he had violated the foreign exchange regulations, Mr. Lapointe said, but he gave no details.

In the Manitoba instance, the only other release in which political influence had been hinted, the man had been re-interned to satisfy public opinion and to save him from the unpleasant results of public opinion. "I had nothing on which to base the order for re-internment," Mr. Lapointe said.

YOUTH CONGRESS

The impending convention of the Canadian Youth Congress in Montreal should be called off because that congress is "dominated" by the Young Communist League, Dr. H. A. Bruce (Con. Toronto-Parkdale) declared.

Continuing debate on the Defence of Canada regulations, he charged the Young Communist League with trying to sabotage the war effort through the press and its publication, the "New Advance." He urged the government to take steps against the league and that publication.

How Will They Eat?

In Ontario 3000 Italian families have been struck off the relief list as enemy aliens. If not Canadian-born or naturalized they are of course thus properly classified. And the conduct of alien enemies in other countries has certainly not been such as to cultivate tolerance on the part of Canadians. Though it should in fairness be noted that the "fifth column" miscreants who have brought suspicion upon alien enemies everywhere were not of Italian—but of German—origin.

It does not follow, because Mussolini has joined forces with Hitler, that Italian residents of Canada are going to attempt here the outrages Hitler's agents and dupes committed in Norway, Holland and Belgium. Time, and only time, can tell as to that. May it not be that a good many of these Italian nationals—who presumably are late arrivals—came to Canada to escape the clutches of Italy's Fascist tyranny?

That aside, the practical question is—what is to become of these ten or fifteen thousand people who have been cut off relief? They have no employment, or they would not have been on relief. Cutting them off relief won't give them jobs. What remains to them? In cold fact is their choice not limited to going hungry or resorting to crime?

Perhaps before the Ontario lead is followed elsewhere we had better do a little straight thinking on this subject of what happens when even an alien enemy who can't get work is denied relief. Not necessarily or exclusively out of compassion for the alien enemy, but out of consideration for the law-abiding public.

The Losses Go On

Herr Goering has committed himself beyond recall to the destruction of the Allied army in France, and cannot spare men and equipment for the threatened blitzkrieg on England. That evidently is the view of the Allied high command, since the British army—hitherto held at home to resist the projected invasion—is now pouring into France to strengthen the line there and make the going tougher for the invaders. Without, it must be supposed, denuding England of forces thought sufficient to meet any air attack the Nazis may feel themselves able to attempt without unduly weakening their all-important offensive against the French front.

That front has not been broken. That is the matter of vital consequence. Unless it is broken, the occupation of more French territory, even of Paris, will not give the Nazis victory.

France is fighting a battle to the death against terrific odds. But it has taken and is taking a fearful toll of the enemy. The Nazi forces have won ground only in face of an incessant rain of bullets, shells and bombs, that has cost them thousands of men daily, destroyed their tanks and planes in great numbers, while their stores of oil and other non-replaceable supplies have melted like snow in the spring. By sheer weight of numbers and superiority of mechanized equipment they have kept going. They can only keep going at the cost of paving their road with their bones.

A glance at the map shows the Nazis have occupied approximately one-fifth of France. It does not show Herr Goering counting his dead—and wondering where, when, and at what further awful cost he may be able to smash the Weygand line. And now that thrice-hated British army is thrusting itself also into the pathway of his dead-weary host! Corporal Hitler may think everything is rosy on the western front. General Goering knows better.

Our New Mountain Roads

Though the official opening ceremonies will not take place until the end of the month, news items several days ago stated that the Jasper-Lake Louise highway will be open for traffic on and after Saturday of this week. No doubt a good many motorists who prefer to drive when the traffic is not too dense will take the opportunity to make the trip before the rush that will undoubtedly take place at the time of the official function.

This event has been timed to fit in with the opening of the highway around the Big Bend of the Columbia, which will complete the Trans-Canada through the mountains and make the long-projected all-Canadian route from the prairies to the coast an accomplished fact.

While advance attention has naturally centred on the ceremonies which will mark the opening of these mountain highways, the important point is not that celebrations will be held but that the two jobs have been about finished and that hereafter motorists may visit the ice-fields and cross the Rockies on a Canadian road when they will. That multitudes will traverse both highways during the present summer is certain.

Opening of the Trans-Canada through the mountains is particularly timely because on and after July 1st a Canadian who wishes to cross into the United States will have to obtain a passport and have this duly endorsed by the appropriate U. S. officials. Prairie motorists en route to the coast may avoid this inconvenience by following the new Canadian route instead of detouring through Montana, Idaho and Washington, as in the past.

United States tourists in great numbers will visit our mountain parks this summer, and make the trip over the newly opened Trans-Canada. The inconvenience of obtaining passports, plus the penalty on Canadian money in the United States, will no doubt cause thousands of Canadian tourists to also do their holiday jaunting over the new highways on their own side of the line.

Hon. J. A. Ralston made good, in the emphatic sense of the term, as minister of finance. That he will put the same vigor into the direction of the department of defence, and with equal success, can be confidently assumed.

After sixteen years as superintendent of Edmonton's public schools, and twice that period in the service, Mr. G. A. McKee is retiring, having reached the retirement age. A great deal of credit is due to Mr. McKee for the high standard of the city's schools, and the public will share the regret of the board at his departure from the position he has so long held.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Crowning irony of the heroic evacuation from Dunkirk befell a soldier who had come safely through that hell of treachery and hate. Walking in his quiet English home town he was run down and killed by an auto. "That's Fate," some will say. "His time had come and he had to go."

IRONIES OF LIFE

Life is full of such ironies. Near the end of the World War a young gunner in my brother Herbert's battery fell heir to a sizeable fortune. Though leave were forbidden in view of a pending offensive, the officers thought it a shame to send him into the last offensive. They gave him a leave—and a stray shell killed him five miles behind the lines on his way out.

o o o

It takes an inflated ego to believe that the Governance of the Universe upsets the course of events to give brutal warnings and directions. A friendly priest with whom I like to discuss philosophy, suggests that the burning of my cottage up coast just as I was preparing to make a permanent home there, is sign that my life is fated to be lived out elsewhere. It would sound a good deal more convincing if half a million young men, more or less, had not been killed in war that week, without having a chance to reconstruct their lives.

Yet, reading of late, of the efforts of scientists from Aristotle and Ptolemy to Einstein, to seek God by finding out the mystery of the universe, one marks the little accidents that turn men's lives and thoughts. If Galileo, after fashioning his telescope, had not looked on successive days at the three moons of Jupiter, and noticed that they had altered position, he might have lost the clue to his later studies.

Darwin might never have given the world the theory of evolution, had he followed his intention to be a clergyman, instead of going at the age of 22, to take the place of another man whose wife wouldn't let him go on the three years' scientific voyage of H.M.S. Beagle. Even then he had a narrow escape of refusal because the captain didn't like the shape of his nose, and came near to taking someone else.

o o o

Einstein, at the end of 30 years of effort, has had to admit defeat in his effort to work out a formula that will mathematically express both the Law of Relativity in the cosmos, and the behaviour of electrons in the atom. Heisenberg's Law of Uncertainty cannot be compressed into a formula. Aristotle taught that the earth was a sphere revolving inside a larger sphere in which the stars were fixed. Now we are told the known universe consists of galaxies, and that light would take a hundred million years to span the void. The value of Einstein's Relativity is that its observations compensate for the 187,000 miles a second we are hurtling through space.

The atom now proves to be vastly more complicated than the cosmic universe—each atom a solar system in itself, with so much space inside that if all the particles could be compressed, it would attain the size of an orange.

Modified as it is by the moving life and change of the atom, the old mechanistic idea that science gave of the Universe—something created by the power millions of years ago and left to look after itself—offers no inspiration to goodness, no solace to grief and no hope for the future. It is to the poets and prophets, and to the assurances of revealed religion that mankind turns in time of anguish.

Do you know the nature of Hitler's "secret weapon" to terrify the English. There has been a good deal of speculation. Is it a deadly gas, a devilish microbe, a paralysing ray, or is it just bluff? A German connected with aviation, who left the homeland just before the outbreak of war, and who wants no clue given to his identity, has disclosed to U.S. aviation officials, what he declares is the

GERMANY'S "SECRET" ARM

"secret." It is a fleet of giant bombers with wing spreads of 200 feet and four motors, each of 1,200 horsepower, constructed to convey a thirty-ton "tank." The fuselage is a massive shell. The tank, or field artillery piece is rolled under the fuselage and lifted through a trap door by a portable hydraulic lift apparatus.

The informant says the planes are being built in a factory in the Black Forest, in which he worked, and that 200 of them had been produced up till last September.

Tri-motored Ford planes have been used on this continent to carry heavy mining machinery —some of them having taken in tractors to operations in the Andes and Central America. Now the secret is out, Britain will be able to take steps to counteract it. A plane with a 30-tone tank in its belly would drop like a rock if hit in a vital part.

Among the mysteries of the ancient city of Quebec is the unsolved question as to what happened to the remains of the great Samuel Champlain. When the great founder of Quebec died on Christmas day, 1635, his body was buried in the little church Sous le Cap, which he had created 20 years before his death. Three hundred years ago today (June 14, 1640) the chapel, for such it really was, of Notre Dame de Reconnaissance was burned to the ground and so far as public records go it is taken for granted that the body of Champlain was cremated.

Later another church was erected on the same site and is often pointed out to tourists as that in which the founder of Quebec was laid to rest; but this is an error de tourisme. It does not matter materially because the ancient capital has its great statue of its founder and one can visit Quebec without being reminded somewhere, at some time, of the man who in 1608 built his habitation under the great cliff and so founded the great city, so long fought for by French and British, but now a living link between the two races whose sons have come to realize that the city which Champlain founded is the gateway to a land of freedom in religion, language and liberty, the eastern pathways of which were trodden by Champlain himself when he ascended the Ottawa river to Lake Huron and then to Lake Ontario.

June 14 is also a notable anniversary for Quebec because on that date in 1846 the citizens were burying the bodies of the 50 people who had perished in a theatre fire one of the most terrible in Canadian history caused by the explosion of a magic lantern showing picture slides, the forerunner of our present-day movies.

It is still almost incredible that we ought to have been forewarned and forearmed against such desperate violence as the German attack. —Vancouver Province.

The Job In Hand

Certainly the number of eager peacemakers there are among us who are willing at a moment's notice to arrange the terms upon which we are to reconstruct the German Reich and reform its morals will, if given their head, produce among them what a great authority has called a "peace that passeth all understanding."

In the meantime, war, not peace, is our business.—Vancouver Sun.

The Convoy System

Vice-Admiral Strutt, who was master of the fleet and chief navigating officer to the famous commander-in-chief of the Battle Fleet in the Great War, Admiral Beatty, in an interview given to "United Correspondents" on his return from sea, where he had been in charge of a convoy, gave an interesting account of the convoy system, and a comparison between the dangers run by merchant shipping in this war and the last war. This is the first time that an account of the convoy system has been given to the press:

"The story of the convoy system dates back to the last war," said Admiral Strutt. "In March 1917 the losses of merchant shipping were so great that for the first time, the British Isles were seriously faced with a fear of starvation. It was decided to try the convoy system, and it was immediately successful. Losses of merchant shipping were at once reduced and the submarine menace was overcome."

Admiral Strutt went on to say that in the last war, the German fleet, bottled up in Kiel were a consant danger to Allied shipping. Sometimes a whole division of battleships were used to protect a convoy, as a lightning raid from Kiel might otherwise have sunk the whole convoy.

No such danger confronts us today—the German fleet is so much smaller that it cannot in any way be compared with the German fleet of 1914. Another important difference between this war and the last is that methods of detecting submarines which were only developed towards the end of the last war, now make it very risky for a submarine to attack a convoy, and if she does, it will not be with impunity. The escorting destroyers will chase her, locate her and drop depth charges near her so that in practise, the submarine hesitates to attack a convoy. (It must be realized that the speed of a submarine under water is only about 10 knots, whereas a destroyer has a speed of approximately 35 knots).

"Is it not a fact that the submarines are much less active now than they were at the beginning of the war?" asked our representative.

"Certainly it is," said the Admiral, "and this we hope may be because Germany has suffered such very heavy losses."

Turning to the menace from the air, the Admiral gave now the remarkable fact that from the point of view of presenting a target for hostile aircraft, the ships in a convoy occupy only 1½ per cent while water occupies 98½ per sent of the total possible bombing field. This surprising fact is not generally known and accounts for the fact that when bombs are dropped from a great height on a convoy, in the hopes of bagging one of them, they generally fail. Anti-aircraft guns serve to make hostile aircraft keep their distance and so tend to prevent them getting within accurate bombing range. Both hostile aircraft and submarines have found the reception they get from Allied ships in convoy too hot for comfort.

Asked if he had anything especially interesting to say about his recent voyage in charge of a convoy, Admiral Strutt said he had had no adventures. "The number of ships in a convoy," he said, "may vary from four to thirty, and the strength of the escort is entirely according to the danger."

As to the danger from magnetic mines, the Admiral said that magnetic mines can only be effectively laid in shallow waters. This danger also has been overcome by the practise of "degaussing" ships: a cable is put round the hull of the ship, which, when an electrical current is passed through, neutralises the effect of the great mass of steel which otherwise would act on the magnetic needle in the mine. A steel ship then has no more effect on the mine than a wooden ship.

The convoy system has meant that a number of ships' naval officers have come back into active service. It has been one of the tragedies of peace-time service in the navy that so many able officers had to retire every year as there was no room for them in the higher ranks. England is now able to call on this vast reserve of trained personnel in her hour of need, a reserve whose only desire has been to be of service to their country.

HE MADE MILLIONS

There came to see me recently a rather amazing man, overflowing with faith, and eager to share his secret. When he first got hold of the vital truth, as a plan of action, "Seek ye first the Kingdom . . . and all these things shall be added" he gave up his $2,000 a year job, which he had held for twenty years, and went out and built up a business that netted him six million dollars. His life since has been a shining record of achievement and service.

My friend is impatient for all Christians to learn his secret and duplicate his success. He does not quite understand that, as the Italian proverb puts it, "God does not pay every Saturday, but he always pays." We must give God time to work out His promises. Faith not only says, "I can do things," but it also says, "I will wait on the Lord."

"Lord, increase our faith"—and our patience. Deliver our hearts from hesitancy and from hurry. Amen.

Should Go All Out

Editor Bulletin: Repeatedly these days we hear over the air, and read in the newspapers, the appeals being made to Canadians to purchase war savings certificates and provide ambulances, etc., for Canada's war effort. Today I heard over the radio some mention of the coming Edmonton Exhibition, and it struck a sour note as far as I am concerned.

Because we are fortunate enough to be a long distance from the actual theatre of war, have we really sat back and tried to visualize and realize the bloodshed, the horror, the suffering and the agony and murder that is taking place every minute of the day and night "Over There"? Have we given thought to the homeless women and children, caught up in the horrors of a war which they had no part in bringing about? All one has to do is to go to the movies and see the news reels and the terrible story of anguish and suffering they unfold.

But, in spite of all this, we are reminded of the coming exhibition. I quite realize that contracts and commitments for the exhibition were made before the war broke out, and apparently they have to be carried out. But is there not some way in which the exhibition can be cut down this year, and the savings effected put into Canada's war efforts?

I feel that in these dark days people should not be encouraged to waste and throw away money which is so desperately needed. What is the appeal in England? Work! ration! cut down! sacrifice! Are they doing it? The answer is "Yes, and willingly."

How different are we fortunate ones in Canada. We can drive our cars all we like, take our holidays, eat all and anything we like and go to bed at nights knowing we will not be awakened by the hideous scream of sirens giving the alarm that bombers are overhead showering down destruction on innocent women and children indiscriminately. Think what all this means and compare the two pictures.

It is our duty to sacrifice and to forget such luxuries as exhibitions and midways at times like these when every cent is needed to aid our soldiers, sailors and airmen to achieve victory, and to save us from being crushed under the heels of the murderous Hun. Let our Canadian brothers who have given their blood, left their loved ones on this side and offered their lives, if need be, know that we back home in safety are behind them one hundred per cent; doing all we can to help. That will give them the courage to fight for liberty and peace, God bless them.

As I said before it may be that contracts already entered into must be carried out, but the situation should be canvassed, and if it is still possible to cut down, the Exhibition authorities should cut down this year, and they should open up their minds now that next year, and for as long as the war lasts, no more exhibitions will be held, but that every energy and every penny will be spent to speed Canada's war effort. Carry on Canada! And hurry.

PROGRESS SAID BEING MADE ON AID TO ALLIES

Repeal Of Neutrality Act Is Requested Of U.S. Congress

WASHINGTON, June 14—Reports that "excellent progress" is being made toward extending material aid by the United States to the Allies in planes, munitions and possibly old destroyers were heard in Washington yesterday as a move began in congress to repeal the Neutrality Act.

Emmanuel Cellar, New York Republican, told the House of Representatives the United States is not and cannot be neutral in the deathstruggle against totalitarian Germany. He submitted a resolution to repeal the act.

ADOPTED LAST YEAR

The act, adopted Nov. 3, 1939, makes it unlawful for a United States vessel to carry passengers or cargo to a belligerent nation, requires shippers to take title to goods purchased in United States and transport them in their own ships and forbids Americans to travel on the ships of belligerent nations. Extension of credit also is forbidden.

First official suggestion that men as well as materials be permitted to go abroad was heard yesterday. Cellar offered a bill to repeal the act forbidding American enlistments in foreign armies.

The campaign for material aid to the Allies proceeded on numerous fronts.

The chief Allied purchasing agent, Arthur B. Purvis, said the government had promised France and Britain "an opportunity to buy more surplus war materials." He remarked "We have requested every type of equipment we could think of."

HELP MANUFACTURERS

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, reported the army is turning over between $9,000,000 and $10,000,000 worth of its reserve manufacturing equipment to firms working on Allied ammunition orders.

Informed quarters believed release of the machinery would result in advancing first deliveries on certain Allied orders by two or three months.

Early said it would make possible the immediate production of "nineteen quantities" of smokeless powder, ammonia and small arms ammunition.

Steps previously taken by the administration, which have had or evidently will have the effect of aiding Britain and France, include:

1—Repeal of the arms embargo which forbade the sale of arms, ammunition and implements of war to belligerent nations.

2—Deferment of first deliveries on some United States warplane orders with the result that deliveries to France and Britain were speeded up.

3—Release of 50 naval reserve planes and a number of army planes, which reliable sources expect to total about 250, for sale to the Allies.

4—Sale of $37,600,000 worth of munitions, equipment and ordnance, which the war department classified as surplus, to the United States Steel Export Company for resale immediately to the Anglo-French Purchasing Board at cost.

5—President Roosevelt's request that congress appropriate 50,000,000 to the Red Cross for war relief in Europe's war-torn countries. The request was approved by the senate today.

With the arms embargo off the books, British and French agents are reported reliably to have placed ordered totalling about $1,200,000,000 since the war began last September.

U.S. Announces New Regulations On Immigration

Returning residents of the United States are not subject to quota limitations when applying for immigration visas.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE

ROBIN HOOD IS SENTENCED FOR THEFTS

J. Warner of Calgary, who has been living here all winter, was convicted of stealing clothes off clotheslines and sentenced to 30 days at Fort Saskatchewan. Warner robbed a number of lines in town, then gave the clothes away, saying they had been given to him by a local charitable organization for distribution. People receiving the clothes believed him, and accepted the articles gratefully. Apparently, Warner stole very little that he could use himself.

Word has been received by the Clearwater and West Country Fish and Game Association that a large quantity of trout fry is shortly to be distributed in streams west of Rocky, also that fingerlings are to be distributed later in the summer.

Due to the large number planted in several of the streams several years ago and the establishment of the Raven hatchery, fishing should improve in the streams west of Rocky. Crimson Lake, eight miles north, was stocked some years ago, but bloodsuckers in the water soon cleaned out the trout fry. It is the only lake in the vicinity that has no fish.

Nazi Frontal Attack On Maginot Line Is Repulsed With Losses

while on the rest of the Champagne front enemy armies are advancing toward Romilly and St. Dizier."

"If the enemy puts into the line the fresh divisions he still has in reserve, the unhinging of the position at Montmedy will become inevitable," the spokesman added. "This is why the government has retired farther toward the southwest."

"It is important," he went on, "that international opinion should understand that the French army, the vanguard of the democracies, has not renounced, despite the terrific difficulties, its fight to the end.

All Divisions Put Into Line

"But we are less numerous. The lengthening of the front is forcing us to put all divisions into the line. Our dispositions have lost their depth. We have almost no reserves. We lack material.

"This is the full meaning of the appeal addressed to President Roosevelt by Premier Reynaud. Planes and tanks must be sent to us. It is the duty of all democracies for whom we are fighting. It is the only way of expressing today the solidarity of the democracies. Then, to use the last words of Reynaud's speech, "The day of resurrection will come."

The German forces reached the gates of Paris last night, it was officially disclosed. Before them they found only the unarmed Metropolitan Police who had remained in the deserted capital to maintain order. All communications between Paris and the rest of France were cut.

The French army which had fought in front of Paris in the hope of stopping the German drive withdrew in the early hours of the day and one to the west of Paris. They were to join south of the capital. The bridges across the Seine in Paris were undamaged.

REFUGEES POUR SOUTHWARD

Pouring southward, too, were thousands of refugees in all types of vehicles, and workers following truckloads of machinery into new Industrial centres, where the war effort will be pushed to the utmost.

With almost superhuman courage, the French troops continued their battle "in the most complete order," as the morning communique of the high command phrased it.

TROOPS FALL BACK

The communique said the troops defending Paris had fallen back in conformity with orders of the high command, under accentuated German pressure.

The communique said that to the east of the capital German spearheads striking southward from Chalons-sur-Marne and Chalons-Thierry "appear to be heading toward Romilly and St. Dizier. Romilly is about 40 miles northeast of Chateau Thierry and St. Dizier the same distance southeast of Chalons-Sur-Marne.

The withdrawal from the Paris sector followed Premier Reynaud's dramatic declaration that the nation's very existence was at stake and his appeal for immediate aid from the United States.

In a radio address to the French people last night the premier disclosed that he had addressed a new and final appeal to President Roosevelt.

"The superiority in quality of British aviation is showing itself," Reynaud said. "It is now necessary for clouds of war planes from beyond the Atlantic to crush the evil power which is dominating Europe.

PLEDGE UTMOST AID

Immediately after the premier's speech the British government sent a message to the French government pledging the "utmost aid in her power" and proclaiming the indissoluble union" of the French and British peoples and Empires.

"We renew to the French republic our pledge and resolve to continue at all costs in France, in this island, upon the ocean and in the air wherever it may lead us, uniting all our resources to the utmost limits and sharing together the burden of reparation the ravagers of war," the British message said.

FREE CIVILIZATION

"We shall never turn from the conflict until France stands safe and free, all her people rescued from the wrong and the wronged and the enslaved states and peoples have been liberated and until civilization is free from the nightmare of Nazism.

"Then this day will dawn we are more sure than ever. It may dawn sooner than we now have the right to expect.

Reynaud painted a dramatic picture of the plight of the French armies which have been standing in the path of the on-rushing German waves for ten days.

"I have seen," he said, "coming from battle, men who had not slept for five days, harassed by airplanes, wearied by marching and fighting. These men, whose nerves the enemy thought he could shake, have no doubt about the final result of the war, they did not doubt the future of the country."

HEROISM SURPASSED

"The heroism of the armies at Dunkerque has been surpassed in the battles which have been fought from the sea to the Argonne.

"The soul of France is not conquered."

Reynaud said the French race will not allow itself to be beaten by invasion. He said free men everywhere must realize the debt they owe to France and that "the time has come for them to pay their debt.

"Wounded France has a right to turn toward the other democracies and say to them: 'Have a claim on you'," the Premier declared.

"During the great trials of their history our people have known days when they might have been troubled by counsels of defeatism. It is because they never surrendered that they were great.

"Whatever may happen in the days ahead, the French are going to have to suffer. May they be worthy of the nation's history! May they become brotherly! May they throng about the wounded fatherland! The day of resurrection will come!"

NEW INDUSTRIAL LINE

With the capital and its vast industrial works abandoned authoritative French quarters disclosed the existence of "industrial Maginot line" was being built underground in the south with machinery transported from the Paris district.

The plants primarily concerned are those turning out munitions and planes. They have been evacuated in good order to places chosen a long time ago against just such an emergency as this.

Among the streams of refugees pouring southward from Paris could be seen gigantic heavy flat-car trucks carrying dismantled machinery at great speed toward the south.

Other trucks crowded with workingmen were passing in the same direction.

NO STRATEGIC RESULT

The French high command communique said both sides of Paris have been still further extenuated. Because of this advance, the troops covering Paris have fallen back on both sides of the city in conformity with orders they received. The French command, in announcing the direct defence of the capital—now an open city—no space in the situation which this defence would have involved, considered that no valuable strategic result justified the sacrifice of Paris.

"On the vast Champagne front, the enemy armies are advancing, fighting southward. Their most advanced elements appear to be heading toward Romilly on one side and Saint-Dizier on the other. Our fighting and our movements are proceeding in the most complete order."

As the Germans smashed southward it appeared that the French government, which went to Tours only Monday, might be compelled to move again to escape the advancing Germans.

Rounding Up Fascist Official In Montreal

additional steps to bolster United States defences:

The signing of an army appropriation bill carrying about $1,498,000,000 for expansion of army personnel and fighting equipment.

The formation of a national defence research committee headed by Dr. Vannevar Bush, head of the Carnegie Institution, and of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

The board, the president said, will have seven additional members. Army and navy officers will be assigned to it and the organization will look into all research and experimentation which might be helpful in accelerating the huge defence program.

REPATRIATION CANADA BONDS IS ANNOUNCED

OTTAWA, June 14—Finance Minister Ralston today announced that $7,000,000 in the Dominion of Canada 1940-89 registered stock will be redeemed next Oct. 1, involving a repatriation of this Canadian security now held by British investors.

This is the second repatriation operation to be carried out by the Dominion since the outbreak of war. The ultimate effect will be that Canadian dollars will be made available to the United Kingdom for purchase of Canadian primary commodities and manufactured products required in the war, the announcement said.

The stock matured on Oct. 1, 1960, but is subject to call on Oct. 1, 1940, at the option of the government, on three months' notice. It is outstanding in the amount of £19,300,000 sterling which there is a sinking fund of £2,463,000, leaving a net amount to be redeemed of £16,837,000 or $74,000,000 at the current rate of exchange.

First large repatriation took place last October when the issue of the Dominion of Canada 1930-50 registered stock was called for redemption last October 17. The operation resulted in approximately $31,000,000 being made available to the United Kingdom.

UNITED STATES TO TRAIN 10,600 AIRMEN IN YEAR

WASHINGTON, June 14.—Plans to produce 10,600 trained men a year, including 7,000 pilots, to staff the United States expanding Army Air Corps were announced today by War Secretary Harry Woodring.

The plans involve use of two of the air corps' principal operating bases as training centres for pilots and instructors, in addition to the existing Randolph Field, Texas.

The period of training has been ordered shortened by a month. It will be 35 weeks long, Woodring disclosed.

In addition to the 7,000 pilots, 3,600 bombardiers and navigators will be trained annually to man the vastly expanded air forces.

In 1911 the first appropriation for the development of aviation in the U.S. Navy was made, the appropriation was $25,000.

Big Hail Stones Hit Many Areas

TROCHU, June 14—Hail "as big as golf balls" fell in the Trochu and Drumheller districts yesterday afternoon, creating considerable damage to gardens but little to the early grain.

Helsler and Forestburg districts were hailed out Thursday, destroying gardens.

FLYING SEVEN AIR WOMEN WANT FIGHT

VANCOUVER, June 14—The "Flying Seven," members of Canada's largest women's flying club, offered today to "Go over France and drop bombs on the enemy."

The seven women pilots, all Vancouver girls holding flying licenses, range in private life from plain housewife to private secretary. Three of them hold commercial licences.

WILL DO ANYTHING

"We'll go over France and drop bombs on the enemy," said Tosco Trasolini, vice-president of the club, for we'll stay in Canada and test planes. In fact we'll do anything. But we do want to help Canada and Great Britain win the war."

Miss Trasolini is secretary to Angelo Branca, local lawyer, and leader of the Italian colony in Vancouver.

The three commercial licensees are: Miss Elmine Roberge, an employee of the Vancouver Board of Trade; Miss Margaret Fane, wireless operator for Yukon Gold Airways, and Mrs. S. Barratt, who lists herself merely as "housewife." Miss Barratt hopes to fly at the Edmonton Aero Club.

MRS. WALTER GILBERT

Miss Betsy Flaherty is in the women's wear at a local department shop, and Mrs. Walter Gilbert, wife of W. E. Gilbert, F.R.G.S., of Canadian Airways, is a "housewife."

The seventh member, Mrs. Jean Pike, is at present in California employed by the Alhambra Airport, Oakland.

The seven, all with more than 25 flying hours to their credit, have applied in a body to the Department of National Defence for war work with the Royal Canadian Air Force, if possible.

TANGIER ZONE IS OCCUPIED BY SPAIN TROOPS

MADRID, June 14.— Spanish troops have occupied the international zone of Tangier in the name of the Sultan of Morocco to "safeguard the independence and neutrality of the city," a foreign ministry spokesman announced today. Two divisions of troops and a destroyer effected the occupation, it was reported.

An official note on the Spanish occupation of the international zone opposite Gibraltar said:

"With the object of guaran teeing the neutrality of the zone and city of Tangier, the Spanish government has decided provisionally to take over the services of vigilance, police and security, and forces have entered this morning with that object. All existing services are guaranteed and will continue functioning normally."

Tangier was internationalized under a treaty signed before the First Great War and later made permanently neutral by the convention of 1923. Spain reopened the question and in an accord signed in 1928 received police powers in the zone, which has an area of 225 square miles.

It was explained semi-officially that today's action was taken under those police powers after consultation with the interested nations.

The occupation had been approved by the international commission governing the zone.

May Stop Byrd

WASHINGTON, June 14. — A house appropriations sub-committee has taken steps, members said today, to put an end to Admiral Richard Byrd's Antarctic expedition and any plans for a permanent United States settlement in the south polar regions.

BRITAIN DROPS ORIGINAL PLAN FOR LONG WAR

the United States and that she would continue to take such tools up to the United States' capacity to send them.

The policy is to put into the field at once the biggest army possible—briefly: a maximum of soldiers in a minimum of time—they said, but the Allies must look across the Atlantic for a large part of the equipment.

They emphasised that the need is now, next week and the week after — not next year — although they declared that those charged with supplying Britain's army are not forgetting to look further ahead also.

Primarily what Britain wants from the United States, these sources said, are the weapons that country manufactured at the close of the last war to replace those she obtained from the Allies.

VERY IMPORTANT

For instance, they mentioned American 75s and American-made British Enfield rifles as very important and said some of the needed weapons were being turned up in batches of hundreds.

Urgent need was mentioned also for certain explosives and parts for the manufacture of tanks, tractors, machines and shells.

While she is planning to go all the way in respect to men, money and supplies, Britain still is keeping in sight that her capacity may be reduced by bombing as the war goes on, these sources continued.

FINISHED PRODUCTS

That, they said, will mean need for finished war products as well as for raw materials to take the place of losses of ore and other materials.

Recent arrivals of supplies from the United States have been small because the former long-range war planning resulted in restricted orders for 1940, these sources said.

They said there also had been financial problems, but asserted that the situation now has improved and there would be no obstacle to purchasing anything that could turn the tide.

As to credits, they asserted there are ways to find them now that there is no need for hesitation on future programs.

Want U.S. Ships To Carry Allied Supplies

NEW YORK, June 14—Efforts to make it possible for United States ships to transport supplies to the Allies were reported under way today.

Under the Neutrality Act, United States vessels are barred from belligerent waters, but shipping executives were described as being hopeful that some means of overcoming the restrictions might be devised.

Several shipping officials were known to be in Washington conferring with governmental authorities on the subject.

Britain's new finding a "blank cheque" to the United States for war supplies found less than a dozen Allied ships in New York harbor.

It was pointed out that rush orders would benefit the Allies little if no ships were available to carry cargoes to France and England.

French Aerial Forces Continue Action In Battle

TOURS, France, June 14. — A French Air Ministry communique, issued "somewhere in France," said today that French aerial forces "are continuing their action in the battle."

"Our light and heavy bomber groups attacked roads, communication centres and enemy columns on the entire front," said the communique.

Armored columns were bombed and dispersed.

"Our fighter groups carried out their missions and launched many attacks with success."

PARIS FALLS TO GERMANS SECOND TIME

Had Been Captured After Grim Siege Back In 1871

By M. S. HANDLER
British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

TOURS, France, June 14.—French troops abandoned Paris to the Germans for the second time in 70 years today. They retired on both sides of the city and left it for the Germans to enter at their will.

(William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to France, reported to the state department that the Germans had reached the city last night.)

The French high command had faced the tragic decision of defending the city street by street, knowing the damage that would be done or of abandoning it and forming a defense line to the south.

The Nazis, "city of light," capital of the arts, had become the first world capital to fall to an invading power since the Germans of William I and Bismarck took it after a long, grim siege in 1871.

FRANCE AT STAKE

But more than Paris was at stake. The Nazis knew that if France itself, the France of the peasant and the artisan, the France that had been invaded often and often and had fought on, or had awaited its chance to fight until the invader had been repelled, all this was now the prize.

"In renouncing direct defense of the capital, now declared an open city, the French command wanted to spare the devastation which defense of the city would have entailed, and retained thus no valuable strategic reason justified the sacrifice of Paris.

The last refugees had left Paris at midnight. By order of the prefecture of police, the city gates were closed by policemen and civil guards.

It was known that the Germans were advancing and the authorities, left here for the bitter duty of surrendering the city, had closed the gates and refused permission for any more people to leave it, in order to avoid confusion or a clash.

The first Germans approached—motorcycle machine gunners. They established their posts outside the gates and awaited the orders of their high command.

CITY OF THE DEAD

The gay capital was like a city of the dead—shops closed, iron shutters erected in windows, those people who remained mourning in their homes and wondering what was coming.

Police and civil guards patrolled the streets slowly, almost alone. They had handed in their rifles and pistols. They were now a completely civilian force.

That was the story of Paris.

BEAR INVADES HOME DISTRICT IN VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, June 14.—Police fought today a black bear that approached a house in the Dunbar district of Vancouver, driving it away from its normal habitat, killing and dragging off a dog.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dill, residents of the district, said they were startled last night by a vicious growling outside their home. Rushing out with a gun, a large black animal dragging a dog into the bushes.

Dill and a neighbor set out in pursuit of the bear, finally terminating the animal to be a marauding dog, but retreated when they caught up with it and found it to be a black bear.

"We took one look and tore for home," said Dill. Police were called and set out with Dill with a shotgun, but were unable to find the animal in the darkness. Search was resumed today.

A Port Moody trapper was severely mauled last week by a bear at the opposite edge of Vancouver district before he was able to kill it.

Dutch Princesses Are Playing Happily In Haven At Montebello

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTEBELLO, Que., June 14—Princess Juliana, of The Netherlands, accepted today the refuge of this quiet Ottawa valley district while her baby daughters, too young to know of the war that drove them from their homeland, played happily and pardock of their democratic fare of sunshine and vegetable mush.

The Dutch princess and her two babies reached this little French-Canadian village, 45 miles from Ottawa, yesterday after a journey overseas by warship and a 27-hour trip by rail from Halifax where they landed Tuesday. They moved immediately into a long mansion nestled in the green slopes of Montebello's outskirts.

TELLS OF DIET

A 27-year-old Canadian nurse who was aboard the six-car, special train in which the princess and her party travelled from Halifax, Atlantic sea, coast, told of the sunshine and hashed vegetable diet of the 2½-year-old Princess Beatrix and her nine-months-old sister, Irene.

Blond and slim Elaine Corbett gave her opinion of the simple diet of the princesses — "just as good for royal children as for other kiddies."

Miss Corbett told how she had been summoned unexpectedly last week to Halifax from Bridgewater, N.S., where she was doing child welfare and visiting work as a member of the Royal Victorian Order of Nurses.

ASSIGNMENT

Sunday she reported to a train standing in the yards at Halifax and not yet knowing what was her special assignment. Wednesday Princess Juliana, her daughters and party boarded the train. Only then did the nurse learn that she was to help "Miss Fiet," the Dutch name of the little princesses.

But there wasn't much help to give. When Nurse Fiet went off duty, it was because Juliana who cared for her babies.

MAGINOT LINE IS 125-MILE STEEL BARRIER

Erected By France At Cost Of 500 Million Dollars

By RALPH HEINZEN
British United Press Exclusive Cable To The Edmonton Bulletin

TOURS, June 14—The Maginot Line—attacked by the Germans—is a 125-mile barrier of steel and concrete erected by France at a cost of five hundred million dollars to protect her eastern frontier against Germany.

It runs from Montmedy, on the north, to the Swiss frontier. Its depth varies from 10 to 50 miles.

NEARLY IMPREGNABLE.

The line is as nearly impregnable as French military ingenuity can make it. All types of fortifications comprise the defense system—huge underground galleries with electric railways and special pill-boxes and mile after mile of tank traps and troop barriers.

So thoroughly is the line mechanized that only a small number of fortress troops are required to operate its machinery and weapons.

The guns of the Maginot Line—many of them electrically operated, are located so as to lay a continuous curtain of fire on all approaches to the fortifications.

GUNS CAN TURN

While some of the guns are in fixed positions to fire east into Germany—most of them can be turned in any direction, and could be employed to beat off any attempts to take the line from the rear.

The forts—while inter-connected —are devised so that the fall of any single unit does not affect the ability of the remaining strong points to resist.

Great steel doors—like those of bank vaults, can be closed to cut off communication through underground passage-ways between the forts.

PAY TERRIBLE PRICE

As yet no results of the first wave of German attacks have been released by either side. But it seemed almost certain that the Nazis, in their attempts to crack the Maginot Line near Montmedy, will fail, or pay such a terrible price for success that such attacks could not be maintained.

U-BOAT SINKS ARMED BRITISH MERCHANT SHIP

LONDON, June 14.— The armed merchant cruiser Scotstoun, the 17,046-ton former Anchor liner Caledonia, has been torpedoed, it was announced today.

She sank with all guns firing and with the crew still at their stations, waist deep in water.

Two officers and four men are missing and feared lost. The remainder of the ship's company have been landed at a British port.

The announcement said:

The secretary of the Admiralty regrets to announce that the armed merchant cruiser H.M.S. Scotstoun (Captain O. K. Smyth) was sunk yesterday by a U-boat. Two officers and four ratings are missing and it is feared that they have lost their lives. The next of kin have been informed. Remainder of the officers and ship's company have been landed at a British port."

The Scotstoun was the third British armed merchant cruiser reported lost in the war. The others were the Rawalpindi, 16,697 tons, sunk during a battle with the German pocket battleship Deutschland Nov. 23, and the Carinthia, 20,277 tons, the torpedoing of which was announced June 8.

BRITAIN SENDS FRESH TROOPS TO AID FRANCE

in the harbor. All were loading rapidly.

British officials said that similar ships in other harbors all along the coast were loading just as rapidly to carry out Prime Minister Winston Churchill's pledge "immediate and massive" aid to France's armies.

"We got everything we asked for and got it quickly," one unit commander told me when I asked him about equipment.

"All our guns are the newest and the best you can get," he continued. "Even the extra stuff which came to us at Dunkerque led us to believe we would need in another expedition were provided as soon as requested."

Men who had escaped from Flanders were among those going back for "another shot" at the enemy in France.

A huge motor transport, guns and other materials were loaded from a nearby jetty while the soldiers scrambled aboard their transports.

BIG CONVOYS

Previously, en route here, I saw big convoys pouring through the British country lanes en route to this port for embarkation. There were guns, lorries, Bren gun carriers and every type of equipment, which were quickly loaded when they reached this port.

There were ships from half the ports of Britain in this area today, all of them loading men and materials.

The men were eager to get to France and the materials appeared good.

One commander told me that it was better material than that of the original B.E.F.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The chief dangers of travel with children are the inevitable changes of water, food, temperature and environment. The last two sound harmless enough for parents go for change of temperature. But these changes may be drastic so that sunny warm days may turn into cold nights and one must be prepared with the children's heavy pyjamas and lots of warm covers.

And as for changes of environment, children are not so flexible as adults. If an adult can't sleep in a strange bed he or she views the loss of sleep philosophically. If the child cannot sleep, he likewise cannot rest and in consequence the whole vacation may get off to a very wry start.

DANGERS

Water and food may be actual dangers. One must be aware of the kind of water provided at any summer resort. The water may be city water and therefore protected against pollution and contamination. But if the source is a well or a spring or piped from a lake, then get some analysis of it to be sure of its goodness. This confirmation of a water's purity should be demanded by any resort keeper or cottage-owner or of the manager of camps to which we entrust our children.

Food for young children should be, within reason, as much like what they are used to at home, as is possible. If we are going for some distance and can't carry the baby's formula, iced, we should use some milk which can be the same no matter where we are. If the baby used to canned or dried milk two or three weeks in advance of the journey so his palate for new things won't operate to keep him half-starved, just at the moment when we want him to be well-fed and happy.

Any trip, to be successful, must be planned to the last detail. Once away from home we may be able to stand discomforts but the baby and the children will voice theirs in no bearable fashion. Vacations can be re-creative and restful only if we think out before-hand all the possible disadvantages and concoct ways to avoid them.

To obtain a copy of our leaflet, "Travelling with Children," send your request with a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to Mrs. Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department care of this newspaper.

Myrtle Meyer Eldred will answer your questions about diet, general care and management of children if you will send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter to Mrs. Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine department in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

McKenney On Bridge

My next flight was to Detroit. A phone call had Lewis H. Fremont, holder of the national mixed pair championship, meet me at the home of R. B. Richards, founder and first president of the American Bridge League. Back in 1929 Richards and I won the national contract pair title, and with Fremont a national title holder of today, we had plenty of hands to talk about.

Good defense became the topic of conversation, whereupon Richards produced the hand shown today. Fremont and I quickly realized that the defensive reasoning on it was typical of Richards, who held the West cards.

Declarer won the opening lead with the ace of spades, ruffed a spade, returned to his hand with the queen of hearts, cashed the king of hearts and ruffed another spade. At this point he led the deuce of clubs from dummy. East played the nine, the queen covered and Richards won with the king.

Richards explained that some players would make the mistake of returning a diamond, which would give declarer his contract, as a club finesse could be taken and a diamond discarded. The play of the line of clubs by East had given Richards a count on the club suit, and therefore the safest return was right into declarer's tenace in clubs. It is the only play that will defeat the contract of six hearts.

Kidnap Automobile Is Discovered Near Saskatchewan Town

SASKATOON, June 14—A step towards solution of the alleged kidnapping of Gustavus McKay, 60, of Semans, at Wynyard last Friday night was completed yesterday with discovery of the McKay automobile about 11 miles northwest of Warman.

McKay told police he was seized by two men to whom he offered a lift, was robbed of $28, his life threatened and finally was "duped" and his automobile stolen. The car was recovered not far from the point where McKay said he recovered consciousness.

LONDON, June 14—The house of Commons was told last night that a plan is being worked out to send children from British war zones to the Dominions and the United States.

"A generous invitation has been received from abroad." Miss Florence Horsburgh, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of health said. "Within a few days some scheme will be made known in response."

Previously it had been announced that the government is conferring with the Dominion governments on the subject.

Here Are Recipes For Summertime Cakes

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

A tall glass of tinkling fruit juice, iced tea or coffee is even better for a tidbit to eat with it. Flat cookies or smaller frosted cakes are ideal for the cooler service. There's a new collection of recipes called "Around the World Making Cookies." From its sweet pages lets follow the advice of Josephine Perry, the author. She has collected a valuable list of American and European cookies and small cakes.

VIRGINIA HARD SUGAR BISCUIT

Four cups flour, 4½ teaspoon soda, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, 1 cup butter, ¾ cup milk, 1 teaspoon caraway seed.

Dissolve the sugar in the milk. Blend the butter into the flour and mix in the caraway seed. Add the milk gradually to the flour and knead into a smooth dough. Roll to one-half inch thickness, cut into small biscuits, prick with a fork and bake at 450 degrees F. for 12 to 15 minutes.

ENGLISH TEA CAKES

These are the favorite tea cakes served in a modern little cottage, graciously presided over by the (pics); British school teacher whose interest in cooking makes her enjoy nothing better than visiting over a cup of tea with her neighbors from across the well-trimmed hedge.

One cup sugar, 1 cup flour sifted, 1 cup butter, 1 cup currants, 4 eggs unbeaten.

Cream the butter and sugar together. Add the eggs, one at a time, and mix well. Blend in the flour and currants. Pour the batter into a shallow baking pan that has been lined with well-greased paper. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 20 minutes. Cut into small squares while warm.

MODERN AMERICAN WALNUT WAFERS

Three heaping teaspoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 eggs beaten 10 minutes, Mix with 1 cup walnuts, chopped.

Add the sugar to the eggs and beat three minutes. Fold in the flour. Drop into small cakes and bake at 400 degrees F. for about five minutes. These are a very thin crisp wafer.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Cantaloupe, dry cereal, rice muffins, small link sausage, milk, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Tomato and sardine appetizer; roast beef, browned potatoes, lima beans, pickled beets, and watermelon salad; iced rolly polly, iced coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Cold roast beef, creamed potatoes, celery, radishes, English tea cakes, rasberries and cream, tea, milk.

SUMMER NOTE

A youthful summer dress of wrinkle-proof spun rayon has a tiny sprayed floral design on a soft green background. The woven belt is deep, rich red, and the white off-the-face hat has a matching red bandeau.

SUMMER HANDBAGS

A good-looking new handbag will do as much for your outfits as a new hat. Look at featherweight bags of straw braid and grosgrain ribbon with hats to match. These come in any number of styles and combinations of colors. If you prefer white, leathers that are equipped to stand frequent home cleanings are important—soft, many-colored embroideries on white and dark grounds. There are some very pretty bags, some petite ones, but for the most part the new summer pocketbooks are of medium size.

OYSTERS

When buying oysters, be sure that shells are tightly shut. If the shells are found on the half shell, save the deep section of shell to contain the oyster. If to make a stew, cook the oysters only long enough to curl the edges. If cooked longer, the oysters will be tough.

What To Do

In returning a first call, how many cards do you leave if the hostess is at home? How many if she's not? Is it proper to leave a card with Mr. and Mrs. or separate cards for yourself and your husband? Thank you.

MRS. A. M. K.

Answer—It is not necessary to leave your card if your hostess is at home. However, you may leave your husband's card to show that you were representing your family as well as yourself.

But if the woman you are calling on is not at home, you leave your card for her and two of your husband's—one for the lady of the house and one for her husband. A good rule to remember is that women visit women and men visit men and women.

A Mr. and Mrs. card is entirely proper and very convenient. It signifies that you and your husband called together; that the married couple, and the extra card of your husband's is a sign that he has visited for the man of the house.

However, separate cards do just as well except that an additional card is required.

Now you can remove corns easily. Just put a Blue-Jay plaster over the corn. Feel it? Relieves pain quickly by removing pressure. Special medicated formula (D) acts on the corn, gently loosens so it can be lifted right out. Then, simply by avoiding pressure and friction which caused your corns you can prevent their coming back. Canada Women Must Keep Up Everyday Occupations

ST. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que., June 14—Mrs. Pierre Casgrain, well-known feminist, told the Canadian dietetic association here today that "the real role for women is to go on and keep up everyday occupations."

Seventy Girls Graduate From Calgary Motor Training Unit

FOLLOWING in the footsteps of their sister members in Edmonton, seventy Calgary girls received their pins as qualified members of the Women's Auxiliary Motor Service, on Wednesday, when Mayor Andrew Davison presented the pins to the first group of graduates at a tea held in their honor in the sunroom of the Palliser hotel.

On June 4, ten members in the first class of the Edmonton branch of the service, who received training through the facilities volunteered by the Dominion Motors Limited, received their graduation pins, and qualifications for ambulance driving in the event of their services being required.

The W.A.M.S.'s who have been taking motor mechanics, many with the idea of doing some war service or doing some man's work, have shown great enthusiasm in their classes.

Second and third classes are now in progress in Edmonton, under instruction from Mr. W. Evenson of the motor company, and other classes are being planned.

British Women Play Spartan Role In Forgetting Luxuries For Duration Of The War

OTTAWA, June 14—British women are getting along without their traditional woollen sportswear this early summer. They're counting their hairpins and using them long after the enamel has worn off to show the tinny surface beneath. And unbelievably they have been asked to cut down on their tea consumption by foregoing that extra spoon "for the pot."

This Spartan self-discipline was revealed by Mr. A. M. Wiseman, Great Britain's senior trade commissioner in Canada, who said Old Country women were grimly paring their luxuries down to the bone as their contribution toward Britain's fourth arm of defence — export trade. The less goods consumed at home, means more products to ship abroad, he said, and this in turn, means valuable foreign exchange to buy planes and shells, and ultimately, to win a victory.

UNRAVELLED AND USED

Hence, discarded cardigans are being unravelled and reknit into summer sweaters; the tins of hairpins lost every week throughout the country are being thriftily retrieved, and famous English linens and cottons are being strictly rationed for shipments abroad. Export trade is one of England's most important weapons in modern warfare and she is straining every nerve to maintain and increase it, the commissioner declared.

One of the biggest factors in raising the billion dollars a month to carry on a successful war, would be the enthusiastic decision of Canadian women to "buy British", Mr. Wiseman pointed out. If women overseas help the cause by going without, so women in this Dominion, can also contribute by demanding British products, he said. Linens, cottons, tea, woollens, anthracite coal, rubber and tin goods are among the commodities which the British government controls or has a particular interest in seeing pushed. Sold in pre-war quantities Mr. Wiseman asserted, these products will help keep the Allied war effort going at top speed.

"Tea, for instance," the commissioner noted, "is one of the Empire's most important agricultural crops. It's government controlled and nets an income of nearly $250,000,000 a year. The immense power of Canadian women shoppers can be of great benefit here. In fact, anybody who demands British goods is helping us win the war."

QUEEN VISITS BRITISH WOUNDED

Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth, is seen here in a Surrey hospital chatting with Sergeant William Wren, a member of the British Expeditionary Force who was wounded in active service. She spoke with Sergeant Wren in the course of a visit through the hospital where British wounded soldiers are receiving medical and nursing care.

Dorothy Dix Says:

The sales manager of a big corporation writes: "Can you not do something to waken wives up to the fact that the costliest mistake they can make is to turn their husbands into errand boys and kitchen helpers? When I find that one of our salesmen is slowing down, I nearly always discover, upon investigation, that he is married to a slave-driver who works him so hard at home that he has no strength or energy left to give to his job.

"The minute he opens his front door she is wailing with a list of chores for him. The grass needs cutting. The kitchen sink is stopped up. Something is the matter with the electric light. Jimmy has broken his wagon and wants it fixed. The living-room curtains must be taken down. The butcher hasn't brought the meat.

"And the poor dub, whose feet are aching and who is exhausted, mentally and physically, with wrestling with hard-boiled customers who didn't want what he had to sell and were determined not to buy it, gets out his tool kit, or the perambulator, and does as he is bidden. He prefers it to listening to a long, whiny harangue from his wife.

"And in the morning it is even worse, or rather the consequences are more disastrous. The man has a difficult day before him.

"He needs every ounce of intelligence and every bit of concentration of which he is capable to solve his own problems, and he should not have his thoughts distracted from the subject that is vital to his interests.

"But does wife consider this? Not at all. She loads him down with little tasks to do for her. 'Oh, John, will you please stop by the butcher's and order a steak for dinner? And will you mail this letter to Mother? And don't forget to stamp it. And telephone the carpet people about sending those new rugs.' And so on and on.

"Why don't wives understand that marriage is a partnership in which a husband and wife divide the duties, and that she is just as much obligated to hold up her end as he is to hold up his?

"His part is to earn the money to support the home. Her part is to make the home. And she should no more expect him to do her work than he should expect her to do his.

"Of course, if a woman is an invalid and unable to run her end of the partnership, it is the duty of her husband to pinchhit for her and do her work as well as his own."

LIGHT BEACH CHAIRS

Handy for a day at the beach or in the country is a pair of folding chairs of lightweight aluminum that fit compactly into a sailcloth carrying case. The legs are curved near the bottom so that they sink into the sand only a few inches and then remain firm. Seats and backs are of colored sailcloth; the aluminum frame is said to be highly resistant to corrosion as well as to smudge and finger marks.

Your Figure, Madame!

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Women will pay 10 or 15 cents any time to see if a perfect stranger can tell how old they are, so the age guessers are doing a flourishing business. Ma Nature has methodically provided certain unmistakable clues to birthdays. With trees, it's the number of rings. With equines, it's the teeth. And with women, it seems to be the chinline. The age guessers say that clever cosmetics can cover up the crowsfeet but that the chinline remains an open secret and a give-away!

A throatline as graceful as Jean Blondell's should be the desire of every woman.

Sometimes I get carried away by my own enthusiasm and tell you that it is most important to exercise the muscles of the midriff or perhaps the hips. But if you want to make your age your own personal affair, you will get in a little chin exercise, too. The technique of doing chin exercise is to slowly tense all the muscles of the throat, to do exercise of this type very slowly and then to relax the muscles slowly. Merely tossing your head from one side to the other does no good whatever. You must put the muscles to work. Then, to complete the good work, you must carry your head gracefully erect.

Slowly turn the head sideways, and as you turn it, tense the muscles of the throat. Now, tipping the chin upward, slowly circle the head back and around to the other shoulder. Release the tension from the muscles, rest, and repeat the exercise three times, later six times. Do not make any jerky movements. Always tense the muscles gradually and relax gradually.

A more vigorous exercise is to lie on the back on the bed with the head hanging over the edge. Slowly raise the head to the level of the bed, letting the muscles of the neck do the work. Hold there for a second, then rest with your head on the bed for another second or two before repeating the exercise to avoid dizziness.

The old trick of blowing up a balloon, a good big one, is marvelous for the chin, throat and jaw muscles. Huff and puff! It's a fine wrinkle chaser!

Correction of the head carriage is just as important as corrective exercise. Your head should sit squarely on your shoulders with as straight a line as possible at the back of the neck. This keeps your chin at a right angle and automatically contracts the lower abdominal muscles so that your entire posture is in line. As you stand, walk or sit, try to remember to push up with the top of your head and hold your head squarely on your shoulders. It takes a bit of practice but it's worth it.

If you have a tendency to carry your head forward, you should not sleep on a pillow or read propped up on one. If you sleep better with a pillow, then use a very soft, flat one. But try to avoid doing anything which tends to further increase the forward position of the head and neck. In doing any exercise, be sure to line up in perfect posture, so that you get the full benefit from it.

Every woman who wants to keep her throatline young will take a little daily exercise for these all-important throat muscles, and will carry her head erect.

Poor posture will bring on a double chin.

Westmount Women's Club Announce Formation Of W. A. To Home Guard

MONTREAL, June 14—Establishment of a women's auxiliary force to the home guard, with uniforms, officers, rifle practice and all the trimmings, has been announced by the Westmount Women's Club, of neighboring Westmount. Club officials said the plan had been approved by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and military authorities here and that steps already have been taken to enlist the support and co-operation of all women's organizations in Montreal.

They said they had been informed by military officials the club would be permitted to form platoons and companies, wear uniforms with military buttons and badges and appoint officers.

In return, they received from the prime minister a letter in which he expressed approval of their suggestions. Since then the Montreal Small Bore Rifle Association has offered the use of its ranges, instructors and 100 rifles.

CHIEF DUTIES

Chief duties of the auxiliary force will be training of groups of women to undertake specific duties at a moment's notice from headquarters. The women will be asked to say in what particular capacity their abilities lie and they will be trained and formed into groups for specific duties.

These groups will include cooks, dieticians, nurses, stenographers, typists, needlewomen, canteen workers, farmerettes, physical training teachers and handicraft workers.

All women and girls in Montreal district will be called to this army of volunteer workers, regardless of race or creed.

It has long been supposed that if we could catch lightning and make use of it, that we could light the whole world on a few flashes, but recent measurements reveal the sad information that the average stroke of lightning contains only about 30 cents worth of electricity. The speed of lightning has also been overrated. Cameras show that it travels from 6½ to 19,900 miles a second—which is a snail's pace compared with the speed that light travels.

Pronunciation Rules Simple

A French menu—but this poised young man won't gobble RAGOUT (French stew) into the English "rag" and "out." Nor call a CANAPE a "KA-NAPE."

How it adds to your self-confidence to be able to pronounce the French words occurring in menus, in the news, in talk. Yet French pronunciation is simple. You can teach yourself!

Here's the rule for RAGOUT. When a word ends in a consonant other than c, f, l, r, you usually don't pronounce the consonant. So say RA-GOO. As for CANAPE, note that accented "é"—like "a" in "baby." Say CAN-A-PAY.

And now you have keys to scores of words. You order CAFE AU LAIT (coffee with milk) pronouncing it CA-FAY O LAY. Roquefort cheese is ROK-FOR.

So you see in the news the term CHARGE D'AFFAIRES (temporary substitute for an ambassador)? Pronounce it SHAR-ZHAY DA-FAIR. ATTACHE (member of a legation) is AT-TA-SHAY. And here are frequent conversational phrases. DE TROP is DE TRO. FAUX PAS is FO PAH.

Find other pronunciation rules, meanings of words in our 32-page booklet. Gives basic grammar, French words and phrases you need to be at ease when dining, shopping, in conversation.

Send 15c in coin for your copy of Teach Yourself To Speak French to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

EARLY DECLINE IN WHEAT CHECKED

WINNIPEG, June 14.—Resting orders attributed to outside interests checked a sharp decline on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today and wheat futures prices finished with losses of little more than a cent after being down over two cents in the early stages. Final quotations were 1½-1⅝ cents lower, July at 72¼, October 75 and December 76⅞.

Operations were never heavy. Moderate buying by outside houses plus a return of firmness at Chicago proved sufficient to take the slack out of the market, however, and values staged a partial recovery.

No overseas business in Canadian wheat could be confirmed.

Buenos Aires wheat prices remained unchanged.

Seeking Office?

Most doubts that President Roosevelt would seek a third term evaporated when he reportedly asked Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, above, to be his running mate. They are said to have discussed Senator Byrnes' candidacy for the vice-presidential nomination during a recent cruise on the Potomac river.

TWO MEMBERS PRINCESS PATS ESCAPE DEATH

Machine-Gunners Land In Scotland After Sub Sinks Ship

By D. E. BURRITT

Canadian Press Correspondent

LONDON, June 14. — Somewhere in the rolling hills of Scotland two youthful members of Princess Patricia's Canadian light infantry today are celebrating escape from their baptism of heavy fire from a German submarine which overtook a fish-laden trawler ploughing towards England. They are now on leave.

The pair, Lance Corporal Lawrence Nicholas, 21, Victoria, and Private Henry Seymour of Ganges, B.C., were serving as machine-gunner "watchdogs" aboard a 900-ton craft employed in gathering foodstuffs for Britain when a shell crashed through the bridge.

TAKE TO BOATS

The opening shot was followed in rapid succession by whistling shells and the crew of 19 took to boats. As the crew pulled away through the tossing sea they watched more than 20 shells pile into their smoking craft before she gradually sank.

One lifeboat was picked up a few hours after the attack last Wednesday but the skiff into which the Canadians jumped became separated in the blackness of the night and for two days the men took turns bailing the leaky craft, which at times was more than half filled with water.

MATE HAD COMPASS

Fortunately, however, the Latvian second mate of the trawler had brought a hand compass along and, with the aid of oars and a torn sail, he was able to guide the clumsy craft to the Hebrides "right on the nose." The crew made little of the experience, suggesting that other than their wet clothes and lack of food they suffered no hardships.

FORT CAPRUZZA IS BOMBED IN ITALIAN LIBYA

CAIRO, Egypt, June 14.—The Royal Air Force bombed Italy's Fort Capruzza near the Egyptian border during flights over Libya yesterday, it was announced today. Extensive damage was reported.

The Red Sea port of Assab, in Italian Eritrea, was raided yesterday. One Italian biplane was reported destroyed there, three planes set afire and buildings, trucks and other material damaged. All the British raiders returned safely.

Italians retaliated yesterday by thrice raiding Aden. All the Italian planes were easily repulsed.

One tri-motor bomber was shot down at sea and two of the crew rescued and made prisoners. Another raider was badly damaged.

Two small towns in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan also were raided by the Italians but without damage.

BRONZE STATUE, ITALIAN GIFT, TO BE MELTED

British United Press

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

TORONTO, Ont., June 14.—A statue was on its way to a munitions factory today.

The statue, a bronze replica of Romulus and Remus being suckled by a she wolf, was presented to the city six years ago by the Italian government as a token of "warmest cordiality."

The city council passed a resolution at the time describing it as "a splendid example of the fine arts." It was displayed in the council chamber but when offended citizens called it "indecent, vulgar and crude, it was finally relegated to a closet.

Mayor Day yesterday called in caretakers to get it out and left orders for it to be shipped to a munitions factory where it could be turned into shells.

Bomber Plane Fund Nears $1,000 Mark: War Supplies Sent

Aiding the national drives by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire and the Canadian Red Cross Society, contributions are being received by the local branches of the organization to augment the war-work funds.

CATERPILLAR PLAGUE NOW NEARS FINISH

The caterpillar plague in Edmonton and district is nearing an end, Prof. E. H. Strickland, of the entomology department of the University of Alberta, said Friday.

The majority of the pests will have started making cocoons by the end of next week, the professor stated, and some will start in the next day or so. He warned householders to keep their window sills free of caterpillars to avoid cocoons being spun there.

The rains have not affected the caterpillars at all, the professor said, in answer to a query. "The worst of the plague is over," he said, "and by the end of next week there will be very few of them around."

Cricket Game

The team to represent the Wanderers on Saturday, May 15, for their home game at the golf links against the Civil Service will be chosen from the following players: C. P. Ortner, W. S. Stuart, W. J. Tiplin, R. Parker, G. Watt, C. W. Gallimore, J. Gallimore, H. H. Lane, R. S. Colquhoun, S. Holtom, K. Hodgson and J. Rae. Anyone unable to play is asked to phone C. P. Ortner at 31868.

Donations to the special fund initiated by the I.O.D.E. for the purchase of a Bolingbroke bombing plane to be turned over to the Canadian government totalled $993, Friday, following contribution by the Major Pane chapter of the order at Vegreville.

To augment the fund, members of the Fort Augustus chapter of the order are holding a benefit garden party on Sunday afternoon at the Donna Brier Farm, St. Albert trail. A bus service from the corner of 124 street and 118 avenue will be operated for the convenience of guests attending the affair.

SHIPMENT MADE

Shipment of hospital supplies and refugee goods was made by the Alberta divisional headquarters of the Canadian Red Cross society on June 10.

Included in the 33 cases sent were 686 bedgowns, 150 bed sheets, 390 bed pan covers, 586 surgical towels, 721 triangular bandages, 600 personal property bags, 372 wash cloths, 144 pairs pyjamas, 276 women's stockings, 1,458 pillow cases, 312 abdominal binders, 780 sweaters, 96 hampton pads, 948 pairs socks, 1,700 handkerchiefs (gauze and nainsook), 456 ice bag covers, 132 hot water bottle covers, 10 mattress pads, making a total of 9,795 articles. In addition were shipped 317 articles for Finnish relief.

A shipment of surgical dressings also was sent by the Alberta headquarters on June 7, including 32 cartons containing 41,805 articles. This makes a total of 117,729 surgical dressings shipped to date. Five cases of blankets for refugees, with 173 blankets also were sent.

TO BUY AMBULANCE

Members of the Edmonton Rotary Club have raised funds for an ambulance to be presented to the British Red Cross Society, and other pledges of aid have been made to the local branch of the Society. Funds at the special account at the Bank of Montreal totalled close to $200 Friday and an additional $100 had been turned in to the Red Cross depot in the Tegler building.

Citizens of Edmonton are continuing to turn in blankets for the depots of the Society for use in the French hospitals.

Following definite word from eastern headquarters, Robert Muir, chairman of the Edmonton branch of the Society, stated that the cost of an ambulance fully equipped is $1,750. It had been previously stated that it would cost approximately $2,070.

Horse Disease

Tests carried out in this province show that no deaths have taken place among horses due to sleeping sickness, it was learned Friday.

A strenuous campaign is being carried out by the three western provinces against this malady and while some suspects have been reported, the tests all show negative.

Lawyer Passes

RUSSELL W. SPEERS, K.C., well-known city barrister, was found dead in his Tegler building office Friday morning. He had been shot with a revolver, which was found lying nearby.

R. W. SPEERS, CITY LAWYER, FOUND DEAD

Well-Known Barrister and Great War Veteran Was In C.E.F.

Russell W. Speers, K.C., well-known Edmonton barrister and war veteran with a distinguished record of service in the last World War, was found dead in his office in the Tegler building shortly before 10 o'clock Friday morning. He had been shot with a service revolver which was lying nearby.

Friends of Mr. Speers stated that on Thursday he was at the armouries endeavoring to again join up for the present war. It is believed that he was to go back for a medical examination today, and in the meantime he had collected his old campaigning kit in his office. Apparently he had been cleaning the revolver when the accident occurred.

The late Mr. Speers was well known in the city and district and for a short time was assistant city solicitor for Edmonton.

BORN IN MANITOBA

Born at Oak Lake, Manitoba, on April 27, 1891, he was educated at Brandon College and the University of Manitoba, where he graduated in 1913. He started his professional career at Edmonton that year as a student-at-law with Robertson, Macdonald and Company until 1916, when he was called to the bar.

A member of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, he went overseas in 1916, returning in 1919.

In 1919 he resumed law with Macdonald, Mackenzie and Speers until 1923, when the first of Mackenzie Speers and Company was formed. He had been a member of Speers, Ogilvie since January from 1927 until 1939. At the time of his death he was practicing law in an office in the Tegler building.

PENSIONS ADVOCATE

He was appointed pensions advocate for Edmonton district in 1930 and held this office until 1935.

He had done much to bring about adjustments of pensions for returned soldiers. He was appointed a King's counsel in 1937.

He leaves his widow, the former Kathleen Harkin; two daughters, Margaret and Kathleen and one son, James Russell, all at home.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Following an investigation conducted by Det. William McDonald, coroners officer, police announced there would be no inquest.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

Warm Alberta sunshine having gone to the Inquiring Reporter's head, your scribe made inquiries regarding a proposed reversal of the world's industrial set-up by having two weeks' work and 50 weeks' holiday.

THE ANSWERS

MAXINE McMILLAN, stenographer: A pleasant thought, but if I must work for two weeks every year, I think arrangements should be made for better hours, say 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. with time out for lunch.

JIMMY RICHARDSON, clerk: I could use it. I could use a lot of other dreams, too. An enforced holiday of 50 weeks a year would not be so good though. Also if a year's work had to be done in two weeks, a 50 weeks' holiday, at least, would be almost imperative.

BECKY GLOCKZIN, clerk: Fifty weeks' holiday is not the life for me. I like to keep busy. On the other hand, two weeks' holiday isn't enough—it means just enough time to get out of the work routine, and then there you are back in it again.

* * *

JEAN HOBSON, clerk: A life of leisure to that extent wouldn't appeal to me. I like to keep busy, and jobs are interesting.

M'GILLIVRAY REPORT FAVORS OIL COMPANIES

Premier Aberhart Says $400,000 Saved Alberta Consumers

The report of the Royal Commission, which investigated the oil industry over a 16 months period, was released Friday by Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry.

At the same time, Premier William Aberhart issued a statement on behalf of the government, commenting on various phases of the report.

The commission was appointed by order-in-council in 1938. Mr. Justice A. A. McGillivray, of the appellate division, Alberta supreme court was chairman of the commission, while sitting with him as commissioner, was L. P. Liguett.

J. J. Frawley, K.C., solicitor to the attorney general's department, was commission counsel.

Hearings of the commission were held mostly at Calgary and were spread over a 14 months period.

Many witnesses were heard and much detailed and technical evidence was given.

The report of the McGillivray Royal Commission dated April 17, 1940 is favorable to the oil companies. In brief, it finds that the industry is efficient, that its prices are fair, that there is no need for government intervention or control and that government intervention or control would be undesirable from the point of view of both the consumer and the industry.

The report states that the field price of crude oil is determined by world-competitive factors and not whimically or arbitrarily; it finds that the Turner Valley price is in dynamic equilibrium with prices elsewhere and recommends that the 8c per barrel reduction in pipe line rates from Turner Valley to Calgary should go to the oil producers because for this 8c to be absorbed by the consumer would put the crude oil price in Turner Valley out of competitive balance. According to the commission recommends that the field price for 43 degrees gravity oil in Turner Valley should be $1.28 per barrel instead of $1.20 which is now being paid and on the 1939 volume of production in Turner Valley finds that this would afford the petroleum producers an increased revenue of $580,000.

PIPE LINE UNLIKELY

The report finds that there is no likelihood of the construction of a pipe line to the Great Lakes until larger oil reserves are proven in Alberta. It also finds that a pipe line to Regina would not enlarge the Turner Valley market but would benefit the producer with a better price at the well; the only real hope of material extension of the Turner Valley market lies in reduced transportation rates of refined products.

Sell Victory Over Counter Is Appeal To Edmonton Firms

"Sell Victory over your counter!" This is the slogan of the Northern Alberta War Savings committee in its first operation since formation early this week, as it asks all retail merchants in Edmonton to co-operate in the sale of war savings stamps.

Every merchant in the city is being asked to co-operate to the limit with the committee in the drive to make Edmonton's savings in the war for democracy. Letters have been sent to all retail merchants outlining a plan of campaign to be followed in the sale of war savings stamps.

Headed by H. Ray Milner, K. C., Edmonton, a strong central committee has been established to organize northern Alberta for the sale of certificates and "silver bullets" so the war savings stamps are popularly referred to.

OTHER OFFICERS

City chairman of the committee is R. J. Dinning, prominent businessman. L. V. Cairns, K. C. has been named head of the speakers' committee, with Maj. R. W. Hale, M.C. as chairman of the post office committee.

J. Q. Nickerson, manager of the Royal Bank has been named head of the bankers' committee, and Ray Stapel as head of the life underwriters' committee. Certificate sales will be made under the direction of W. J. Dick, with H. H. Cooper, prominent city wholesaler, handling the stamp sales campaign.

Retiring superintendent of the Edmonton public school board, G. A. McKee, O.B.E., has undertaken the leadership of the schools committee, and F. H. Elpicke will lead a publicida committee comprised of members of radio stations and city and weekly newspapers.

TEXT OF APPEAL

Text of the letter of appeal sent to merchants follows:

"Dear Mr. Merchant: Of all the men and women of Canada, you, Mr. Merchant, are possibly best able to win the war! For years, over your friendly counters, the people of your neighborhood have bought their daily bread—and now we offer you the chance to sell them Victory!

Sell Victory over your counters! The service we ask of you is of that magnitude, and we are confident you will respond eagerly. You can strike your blow for freedom by simply keeping in your cash drawer a supply of war savings stamps. Your customers will ask for them. They will be prompted by powerful, constant urgings from radio, press and post-poster. As well as colorful displays we will provide for your store free of charge.

Your customers will count on you to keep on hand an adequate supply of war saving stamps. You can purchase them from the bank or post office—and you cannot suffer any loss, because war saving stamps are the actual equivalent of cash. Offer them to your customers when you make change; sell them as your customers ask for them; make arrangements to keep your charge account customers supplied with a fixed amount each month. Explain that the stamps can be exchanged for war saving certificates which mature in 7½ years at a premium of 25 per cent.

The stamps are now available. Your desire to serve Canada and the Allies can be translated into immediate action this very day!

Start now to sell Victory over your counter!

Yours for Victory!
Northern Alberta War Savings Committee.

Border Adventure

By Oren Arnold

CAST OF CHARACTERS

BETTY MARY JORDAN, pretty young Border Patrol service secretary.

SHERIDAN STARR, handsome Border Patrol officer.

HOPE KILDARE, Starr's fellow officer, also a bachelor.

LUIS BARRO, Mexican smuggler.

Yesterday: The officers learn that the old woman in jail was Betty Mary. Later, she tips them off that smuggling is planned that night. As they rush to the scene, Sheridan reveals he has already asked Betty for a date.

CHAPTER III

MISS ELIZABETH MARY JORDAN, of Washington, D.C., out of her bath and in pyjamas now, stepped onto the hotel bathroom scales to see if the three days of train food and loafing and one day of west Texas had added anything to her weight.

They hadn't. The needle wiggled around gaily and finally settled on 108 pounds, causing her to mutter, "Oh darn." If ever she reached 110, Betty Mary often promised herself, she would throw a rip-roaring celebration; she had kind of hoped it could be done here in El Paso.

"But it doesn't matter," she assured herself, "because I don't know anybody here except Hope Kildare and Sheridan Starr."

She came out and stooped to bury her face again in the flowers Mr. Starr had sent that night. They had been waiting when she came back to her room. "May I take you to dinner on Saturday?" the note with them had said.

She hadn't answered yet, but she knew she would say yes. Too much of glamor an interest was already attached to him, to both the young Border Patrol inspectors on whom she had paid an official call. She had come from Washington expecting to find them stodgy unimaginative men, perhaps the plodding type of officers. But Inspectors Starr and Kildare had surprisingly looked and talked like big overgrown boys, handsome and highly capable but likely to make a few blunders in life. Betty Mary had felt instantly drawn to them.

"I think it would be unfair to recommend that they be discharged," she was confiding presently, in a letter to her girl friend back east. "I think this Luis Barro has just been lucky. He has just been slipping by two good men. I was sent out because, as you know, Washington wanted an inside report by somebody who could speak Spanish and knew about border conditions. I've been handling all the Border Patrol correspondence, and a few other investigations, and luckily I was born in Texas, too.

"And guess what, Sue! The thrillingest thing! Remember the way we make up and change characters over the telephone in the Theatre plays? Well, I was able to do that here today and get the officers a valuable tip. Really! I never felt the most to tell you when I get home. Even as I write this they are out in the San Felipe hills somewhere. This is much rougher country than around San Antonio, where I was reared. But the Mexicans look the same. I am going to sketch some faces.

"Sheridan has asked me for a date already! Aren't you jealous? They are big and they move gracefully and have quick dark eyes and Hope—that's the other one—has a small scar from football, and they both act so serious you'd think they were—"

She had a great deal more to tell Sue but she stopped writing soon and went to bed.

She didn't sleep well, though. Things were on her mind.

At 3 a.m. she telephoned the hotel clerk to know if any calls had come for her. None had. Still nobody had called at dawn; and at 7 a.m. she was reading a morning paper but had found no mention of any Border Patrol excitement.

Breakfast was uninteresting; the morning dragged. Three times she telephoned Border Patrol headquarters, only to be told each time that Messrs. Starr and Kildare were not in. At 3 p.m. she visited the chief of police again and heard once more what she already knew—that Border Patrol work was always dangerous, likely to include shooting any time.

At 4:15 p.m. she went to a stationery store and purchased a large "Map of the Border Country" with accurate scaling and topographic features, took it to her room and studied it minutely for nearly an hour. Next she sat for a few minutes staring out of her hotel window across the Rio Grande at the mountains of old Mexico, tapping her pretty teeth with a pencil, and thinking. Then, suddenly, she made up her mind. Recalling a morning goods store she had seen earlier two blocks from the hotel, she set out quickly for it.

"I want to buy a good pistol," she told the clerk, firmly. "And some ammunition and a cartridge belt."

Mazatlan is a highly picturesque little city in the Mexican state of Sinaloa, which is lapped by the Pacific Ocean. Many boats stop there, and strange are the people who may be seen on them. Sometimes a few of the people disembark.

Two weeks before Betty Mary started west, 20 men and nine women, all of very definite Asiatic ancestry and all speaking some dialect of the Asiatic languages, arrived in Mazatlan disembarking from a passing vessel at night. They had not been sure of their welcome, but they met with no difficulty. In fact their spokesman, who was an excellent linguist, was elated at the ease with which Mazatlan "absorbed" these travelers.

"But it is not here that we need expect trouble," he informed them soon after their arrival. "We will have to be more careful, however, when we cross into the next land."

"That will be America!" a Chinese asked him.

"The United States, no less," he nodded. "But patience. It will not be easy, as here. Unless we are mistake clear to Asiatics how the United States Border Patrol functioned? He shrugged again.

"But the man who will take us across," the Chinese asked, "is he not capable?"

"Ha! You are catanjero, surely, to ask that about Don Luis Barro!"

EDMONTON YOUTH RADIO OPERATOR ON AIR PATROL

Well-known student at Alex Taylor and Victoria high schools before he answered the call for service with the Royal Canadian Air Force, Norman Ernest Ramey, 19, 8819 103A avenue, now patrols on wings the eastern coastline area of the Empire's far-flung battle line.

Eager to do his part in the fight for freedom, young Ramey immediately enrolled as a student in radio at the Calgary Institute of Technology when the present war broke out. As soon as he graduated as a wireless operator he joined the R.C.A.F. and went east. He left here two months ago.

His mother, Mrs. Ida Ramey, has recently received word from her son to the effect that he is enjoying the life of a radio operator on the planes patrolling the eastern seaboard of Canada.

A well-known amateur musician, Ramey played the electric Hawaiian guitar in an orchestra here.

Born at Wainwright, Aircraftsman Ramey is an only son.

Dr. Julius Erlanger, Edmonton optometrist, has been elected to membership in Beta Sigma Kappa, international honorary fraternity of optometrists, according to an announcement by Dr. H. E. Pine, Chicago, president of the fraternity. Commencing his practice in 1934, Dr. Erlanger has taken post graduate courses in the Los Angeles college and the University of Alberta. Two Suspects Are Brought To City To Face Charges

Wanted here to face charges of stealing more than $10,000 worth of jewelry from Henry Birks and Son Ltd., and Canadian Credit Men's Association, Daniel Brent and Kenneth Abbott arrived in the city from Vancouver Friday under R.C.M.P. escort.

Police recovered the entire amount of stolen jewels last week-end after raiding a buried cache in the West End of the city.

Brent and Abbott, who are well known to police here, were arrested in the coast city last Sunday as the result of information secured by detectives when the whereabout of the stolen gems was discovered.

HERE'S HOW TO CELEBRATE ON FATHER'S DAY

Don't forget, now, all you boys and girls—Sunday is Father's Day —and now is your chance to show him that you do appreciate him and all he has done for you. After all, he'll be glad to know that you think of him sometimes besides when you want to ask him for something.

Ever since you were born your father has been kept on his toes doing things for you. It was school books, and money for marbles, jacks, and skipping ropes. Then it was money for ice cream cones and candy, for haircuts and hairdos, for long trousers and new dresses. Why you've just been a continual round of expense and worry to him.

And here's a tip! Why not make a resolution that on this Sunday you won't ask him to do anything for you, and at the same time you'll do everything you can to make him comfortable? Spend the whole day thinking about his comfort. And while you are at it, you'd better give him some little thing to show that you really mean it.

Bull Exchange Policy Renewed Mullen Reports

Carrying on a work which has featured livestock activities in this province for the last few years, Hon. D. B. Mullen, minister of agriculture, announced Friday the re-opening of the bull exchange policy. More than 800 purebred bulls have been distributed under this plan in the last two years, while a like number have been eliminated.

McMullen declared that "owing to a shortage of suitable bulls in the province last year, a large number of applications were not filled when the policy closed on December 1." He further stated that his department had secured sufficient yearling bulls ready for distribution.

Applications will be received for young bulls up to September 30, he said. It was pointed out that elimination of scrub bulls was essential to improve quality of market cattle in this province.

Manufacture of Zinc chloride from Canadian zinc ores will soon be undertaken by a plant here.

VIOLENT STORM WITH LIGHT HAIL HITS EDMONTON

A violent rainstorm lashed down on the city Thursday afternoon driven by a heavy wind that caused considerable damage throughout the city to gardens and shrubs. A light hail accompanied the rain. The rainstorm was preceded by a heavy wind that lifted a blanket of dust over the city. Black, ominous-looking clouds accompanied the storm, which led many citizens to believe it was cyclonic in nature.

Rubbish was tossed high above buildings in the downtown section of the city, while the air was so heavy with dust that it was impossible to see more than a block ahead. Cyclists found it impossible to make headway against the gale, while mothers were forced to carry their small children.

During the first few seconds of the rain, citizens were treated to the odd spectacle of the heavens raining "mud" as the raindrops fell through the dust laden air. It was the second violent storm to strike the city in two days. Wednesday evening a violent electric storm, accompanied by heavy rain, wrought havoc to the city's lighting system.

Friday morning the sun rose in a clear, cloudless sky, but weather experts predicted that Edmontonians were in for more rain as they forecast "not much change in temperature with probable showers." High temperature Thursday was 64 above, while the low mark was 48 above. Total precipitation Thursday .12 inches.

Province Studies New Proposal For Security Corps

Consideration is still being given by the provincial government to the request of returned soldiers' organizations that a Veterans' Civil Security Corps be formed in this province to guard against "fifth column" activities.

George B. Henwood, K.C., deputy attorney-general, said that the matter was still under review and it was hoped that in the near future a reply would be sent to the deleg ation which interviewed the government on the subject earlier this week.

The delegation was headed by Col. F. C. Jamieson, V.D., K.C., and urged that there were 5,000 veterans in the province who could be enlisted on a voluntary basis in such a corps, which would be along similar lines to corps being formed in other provinces.

Is Magistrate

HAROLD I. HAWE, K.C., prominent Edmonton barrister, who has been appointed a police magistrate for the city of Edmonton by a provincial order-in-council, according to an announcement made Friday.

Harold Hawe Is New Magistrate Of Police Court

Appointment of Harold Hawe, K.C., prominent Edmonton barrister, as a stand-by magistrate in the Edmonton city police court was announced Friday by George B. Henwood, K.C., deputy attorney-general.

Mr. Henwood pointed out that Mr. Hawe would act in place of Magistrate A. L. Millar of the Edmonton city police court when he is on holidays, unavoidably absent or has too heavy a volume of work to handle.

Mr. Hawe is not on salary, but will draw a stipulated rate of pay for each day employed as magistrate.

Prominent at the bar for many years, Mr. Hawe is a past president of the Edmonton Bar Association.

Agriculture To Be Studied By Chamber Group

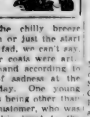

Wartime agricultural policies will be studied by the committee on agriculture of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, it was decided at a Chamber council meeting at the Corona hotel, Wednesday.

The chamber has received from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce a statement of the latter's wartime agricultural policy, which is based on close co-operation between agriculture and industry.

A resolution of condolence on the death of Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of national defense, will be sent to Ottawa authorities.

Meeting dates of the council during the summer months will be July 24 and August 31, it was decided.

Through The Mill

Whether it's the chilly breeze following the rain or just the start of a new fashion fad, we can't say, but men's sweater coats were strolling in great demand according to the daily saga of sadness at the police court Friday. One young fellow who denies being other than a perfectly good customer, who was simply delaying his jaunt to the cashier while he examined other merchandise, will learn his fate later in the day. He was charged with taking a strong fancy to a sweater that she stood to the tune of $3.95, and of failing completely at the customary though painful procedure of paying a visit to the cashier on his way out of the store.

A store clerk went so far as to suggest that the chap must have not intended to pay for the sweater, because he carried it under a raincoat.

The same clerk said that a fellow should go to a clerk and have a purchase wrapped up and not simply his own wrapping, as matter how much the store might appreciate the saving in wrapping paper.

A second fellow who was also minding a grave charge, he possess a sweater, admitted he was guilty of taking the same. He had even gone so far as to stroll in for cash at a local second hand emporium. He blamed the whole sordid episode on booze. He assured the cadi he had never been in trouble before and would certainly never be in the same kind of trouble again if he had another chance. The story sounded pretty fair but as the accused gave his address as Calgary, the magistrate decided to wait until the bona fides of the story are established.

A week or so ago a man appeared on a charge of not collecting enough for milk he sold to a woman who keeps a sort of baby farm. The province has a law that won't allow a dairyman to sell milk for less than 11 cents a quart. This fellow sold it for 10 cents a quart, which is OK if the person buying same is operating a charitable institution. At that time the magistrate wasn't just quite how charitable the institution that received milk at the knockdown price is. Today he decided then weren't quite charitable enough, so the dairyman has to pay a fine of $5 and costs.

No Exit Permits

LONDON, June 14.—A House of Commons questioner, who suggested that young Britons were leaving the country saying that they would not fight, was told by a Labor ministry spokesman today that "no exit permits will be issued by the home office now."

56 REPORT TO JOIN REGIMENT HERE ON FRIDAY

Grouped 56 men from Calgary and Medicine Hat reported at the Prince of Wales Armory Friday to join the South Alberta Regiment (Mot. Bn. C.E.F.) according to Lt. Col. F. Brown, M.M., E.D., Area Commandant.

Summer battle dress has been issued the regiment and soldiers wearing it were seen on city streets Thursday. The summer dress is lighter in color and texture than the dress issued in the winter.

Lt. Col. J. H. Harvey, Medicine Hat officer commanding the South Alberta Regiment is in charge of recruiting for the regiment, which is now well on its way.

Two companies are being contributed to the city, one from the 19th Alberta Dragoons and the other from the Edmonton Fusiliers (M.G.), Stratby, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge are the main contributing points for the other two companies.

Church parade will not be held Sunday, but men will attend their own churches. Edmonton members of the Garrison will attend mass at 9:15 a.m. at Sacred Heart church, with Rev. Fr. O'Gorman in charge.

Control Of Guns Not Yet Studied Official States

To date, consideration has not been given by the Alberta attorney-general's department to the control of sales of rifles and shotguns in sports goods houses, George B. Henwood, K.C., deputy attorney-general, stated Friday.

His statement was made in commenting on an announcement by Gordon Conant, K.C., Ontario attorney-general, who said that consideration is being given to such control in that province.

At present there is nothing to prevent persons entering shops and purchasing the firearms mentioned.

A recent meeting of ex-service men in this city discussion took place regarding advisability of registration of all firearms in possession of enemy aliens.

Possession of pistols and revolvers must be reported to the R.C.M.P.

18 PAIRS OF BINOCULARS ARE DONATED

Citizens have responded nobly to the appeal made by Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, to binoculars and field glasses for use by the Canadian Active Service Force, it was reported Friday. Eighteen pairs have already been donated to Lt.-Col. E. Brown, M.M., E.D., Area Commandant. Some of the glasses donated were of the prismatic military pattern particularly wanted. The request by Mr. Howe asked persons owning binoculars to aid the war effort by offering them to the nearest military headquarters. Binoculars accepted will be given a fair valuation and owners will be informed of the progress the department of national defence is prepared to pay for them. All binoculars will be forwarded to Ottawa and issued to various units from there.

Information On Refugee Influx Is Not Received

Advised Friday that arrangements had been completed in Toronto for the care of refugee children from war-torn Europe, Dr. G. M. Little, Edmonton's medical health officer, said the question had not been discussed in official quarters in this city.

"I have received no information concerning refugees other than newspaper reports and they did not concern this city," the M.H.O. said. However, I have heard that the Red Cross has a list of persons who have offered to care for refugee children should it be decided by the government to send them here."

Unheralded But Tough French Navy Is Ready To Blast Mussolini's Fleet

BY MILTON BRONNER
Edmonton Bulletin Special Staff Correspondent

LONDON, June 14.—Mussolini taking Italy into the war has found a big pot in pickle for him, and its name is the French navy.

So much is printed about the strength of the British navy and the French army that the ordinary reader is likely to forget that the French also have a formidable navy. In fact, it is the fourth in the world, exceeded only by the American, British, and Japanese fleets.

On paper the fleets of France and Italy seem nearly equal: 8 French battleships against 6 Italians; 7 heavy French cruisers against 7; 12 French light cruisers against 8; 63 French destroyers against 62; 80 French submarines against 87.

FRENCH EMPHASIZE SPEED, GUN POWER

But there is something more to it than numbers. There is the matter of speed and gun power.

Two of the finest vessels afloat are in the French navy—the battleships Dunkerque and Strasbourg. They were completed in 1937 and 1938, respectively, and were the French answer to the much-vaunted Nazi pocket battleships. They were created to outrun and outgun those celebrated ships. They are each of 26,500 tons and mount eight 13-inch guns and 16 6.1-inch guns. Their turbine engines have a total of 100,000 horsepower and propel the vessels at 30 knots per hour.

Moreover, the French have just added a new battleship to their forces—the Richelieu—and before the end of the year hope to add her sister vessel, the Jean Bart.

Next year two more of the same class, the Clemenceau and the Gasogne, will probably be ready. These vessels are 35,000 tons each. They will be armed with eight 15-inch guns and 15 six-inch guns.

M. Campinchi, French minister of marine, has said that the number of vessels completing or under construction is well over 100, including two 18,000-ton aircraft carriers, three 8000-ton cruisers, 20 destroyers and torpedo boats and 23 submarines.

The new French destroyers already in service are among the most formidable ever built. They all approach 3000 tons and carry eight 5.5-inch guns. One of them recently attained a speed of 45 knots per hour, the highest ever reached by a boat of this class.

20-MILE RANGE FOR BIG GUNS

The French have always been famous for their artillery. The 13-inch guns on the Dunkerque and Strasbourg have a range of about 20 miles and can fire three 1200-pound shells every minute. The 5.1-inch guns on these ships have a range of 11,000 yards and can be used either against enemy ships or airplanes. The newer destroyers, armed with the 5.5-inch guns, have extraordinary fire power for such small ships. These guns are claimed to have a range of 25,000 yards and can fire 16 rounds per minute.

Like the British navy, the French has already done an enormous amount of war work. It has escorted the transport of many army divisions from the African empire without the loss of a single French soldier. Also French soldiers have been sent from the mother country to various strategic points in the French empire. French war vessels have shared with the British in the job of guarding British troopships across the English Channel.

BLOCKADE TO AFFECT ITALY ON WAR GOODS

Figures Are Cited To Emphasize Effect On Economy

By ROGER LIORET
Havas Staff Writer

LONDON, June 14.—Figures were cited today by British economic sources to emphasize the effect on Italy's economy of the Allied blockade.

Four-fifths of Italy's average annual oil consumption of 2,600,000 tons hitherto has been imported from overseas. Eighty-one per cent of Italy's total imports have travelled over Maritime routes now controlled by the Allies.

COMPETES WITH REICH

Once the pinch is felt, Italy will be forced to compete with Germany for Balkan oil. With her sources in the United States, Mexico, Venezuela and The Netherlands East Indies cut off, Italy necessarily will have to turn to Rumania, which in the past has supplied her with only 10 per cent of the total. Russia's surplus oil already has been pledged to Germany.

Prior to her entry into the war, Italy was able to count on Britain for 25 per cent of the 12,000,000 tons of coal used annually in peacetime.

Italy has been importing 400,000 tons of steel yearly, principally from Spain and Spanish Morocco. Sixty thousand tons of crude iron has likewise been purchased abroad, most of it from the United States. Until now the Mediterranean has been the channel of annual imports including 75,000 tons of copper, 30,000 tons of rubber, 500,000 tons of wheat, 100,000 tons of corn and 302,000 tons of meat.

FOOD SUPPLY LOW

Italy in the past has been buying 75,000 tons of potatoes from the Reich. Germany's latest crops have been far below par, however, and that war-hungry country now needs all she can produce, and more.

No accurate figures were available as to the stocks of food and raw materials on hand in Italy. It was presumed here, however, that they must be far below figures satisfying to Premier Mussolini.

Italy's credit on world markets does not exceed $30,000,000. This fiscal weakness is further emphasized by the drop in the reserve of the Bank of Italy from $200,000,000 in December, 1938, to $138,000,000 last March.

British sources said Italy's entrance into the war had deprived the Allies of no produce or merchandise which they could not easily obtain elsewhere.

10,869 Aliens Held

LONDON, June 14.—Sir John Anderson, secretary of state, told the House of Commons Thursday that the latest total of German and Austrian aliens interned was 10,869.

Poet Publishes Verse In U.S. Newspapers Asking Assistance For Allies

NEW YORK, June 14—Edna St. Vincent Millay, noted American poet, who chiselled verses have seldom sung of current events, today published a long poem in three morning newspapers here asking Americans to abandon isolationism because "There are no islands any more" and pleading for immediate aid for the Allies "lest we be left to fight alone."

The New York Times gave the poem a prominent position on its third page; the Herald Tribune published it on its editorial page, as did the Daily News. In the News the poem, incongruously enough, was set beside an isolationist editorial.

She calls her poem: "Lines written in passion and in deep concern for England, France and my own country."

"Dear isolationist," she begins, "You are so very, very insular."
Then she points out to him that it may seem sweet and safe to be on an island but "there are no islands any more."
"We live upon a shrinking sphere—
Like it or not, our home is here."
Then comes the appeal:

"Oh let us give, before too late,
To those who hold our country's fate
Along with theirs . . ."

She relates:

"Oh English soil, on French terrain
Democracy's at grips again . . ."

And goes on to urge:

"On build, assemble, transport, give
That England, France and we may live,
Before tonight before too late,
To those who hold our country's fate
In desperate fingers, reaching out
For weapons we confer about,
All that we can, and more, and now!
O, God, let not the lovely brow
Of Freedom in the trampled mud
Grow cold! Have we no brains—no blood,
No enterprise—no any thing
Of which we can proudly talk and sing,
Which we like men can bring to bear
For Freedom and against Despair?
Lest French and British fighters, Islands any more."
In battle, needing guns and sleep,
For lack of aid be overthrown,
And we be left to fight alone."

DEFENCE ACT TO BE STUDIED BY COMMITTEE

Resolution Of Premier King Is Adopted By House Of Commons

OTTAWA, June 14—Prime Minister Mackenzie King's resolution calling for review of Defence of Canada regulations was adopted in the House of Commons last night after three days of debate.

Without a vote the house adopted the resolution which names a 15-man committee to examine into all phases of the regulations and to recommend any revision that may seem necessary.

GIVES WIDE POWERS

The regulations, proclaimed at the start of the war under authority of the War Measures Act, are designed to enable federal authorities to preserve internal security and give wide powers to the justice department to intern aliens or others suspected as potential enemies of the state.

Earlier George Black (Con. Yukon) said he was satisfied to leave the maintenance of internal security to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Justice Minister Ernest Lapointe. He believed the regulations were adequate and no good purpose would be served by referring them to a committee.

Walter Tucker, (Lib. Rosthern) said his riding contained more people of German birth than any other in Canada and that many of them endorsed Canada's war effort by giving him a big majority in the elections last March. He warned, however, that there were Nazi agents in the west attempting to mislead loyal German Canadians.

CONFIDENCE IS ASKED

When the resolution was being debated Thursday afternoon, Mr. Lapointe urged Canadians to have confidence in federal authorities charged with preserving internal security.

The minister vehemently denied political motives had influenced either R.C.M.P. or himself in releasing suspected aliens from internment.

As an indication of efficiency of the R.C.M.P., the minister said the moment Italy declared war he had signed an order for internment of "many hundreds" of Italian aliens from a list prepared much earlier by police.

"Sowing distrust of those who have the responsibility and the burden is not a good thing in this country at the present time," Mr. Lapointe said. "Let us try to trust one another and not think there are any sinister designs in the actions of those in authority."

Defence of Canada regulations might restrict certain liberties but those who were doing the fighting overseas had accepted much gerater restraints.

8 AMBULANCES ARE DONATED BY B.C. GROUPS

VANCOUVER, June 14—Eight more ambulances were promised to the Red Cross yesterday, bringing to at least 30 the number pledged or donated by organizations and individuals in British Columbia.

The British Columbia Grand Lodge Independent Order of Odd Fellows at its concluding sessions at Revelstoke, B.C., set an objective of one ambulance from each of its three branches.

Employees of the Victoria Lumber and Milling Co., Ltd., at Chemainus on Vancouver Island, voted to donate an ambulance, and President J. A. Humbird said the company would provide a second.

The Kiwanis Club presented Red Cross officials at Vancouver with a cheque for $2,100 to purchase a fully-equipped vehicle.

More than 200 women members of Vancouver golf clubs agreed to donate one vehicle and the Junior Red Cross is appealing to its 28,000 provincial members for funds to purchase another.

Premier Hepburn Bitterly Attacked By Western M.P.

OTTAWA, June 14—A bitter attack on Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, of Ontario, as an enemy of Canada's war effort, was made in the House of Commons last night by J. G. Ross. (Lib. Moose Jaw).

Mr. Ross said there had so far been no sabotage by enemy agents in Canada but these had been "repealed saboteurs by men in high places, for instance, Premier Hepburn, of Ontario."

"No man in Canada has done more to destroy unity, to create suspicion, to foment dissension, to discourage recruiting than this man," Mr. Ross said.

LARGE EXPLOSIVE FACTORIES BEING BUILT IN CANADA

OTTAWA, June 14—Two large explosive manufacturing plants and a shell filling plant are being completed in Canada to be operated on the account of the British and French governments, Transport Minister Howe told the House of Commons Thursday. He was answering a question from M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F. Rosetown-Biggar).

One plant was under construction to manufacture explosives for the British government, another to manufacture a different type of explosives for the British and French governments and a third large plant for shell filling for the Canadian and British governments.

All three were being built by Canada and would be operated by Canada on the account of the governments concerned.

To a question from Conservative Leader Hanson, who thought manufacturing should not be centralized, Mr. Howe said it was expected shells would be made in many existing plants.

NEW INVENTION CLAIMED TO AID ARMY AIRPLANES

ST. PAUL, June 14—Croil Hunter, president of Northwest Airlines, yesterday announced invention by a Northwest Airlines engineer of a new aircraft ignition distributor system which he said would give military planes enough added power to make them supercharged ships at any altitude.

Hunter said plans have been approved by the United States government.

The device was invented by Carl E. Swanson, former faculty member at the University of Minnesota institute of Technology. It steps up aircraft ignition through elimination of contamination by pumping chemically-treated air through the shielding cables.

Swanson said bombers and other planes now will be able to fly at higher altitudes than ever before.

Paris Subway Becomes Super-shelter From Air Raiders

Parisians fleeing German bombing planes can seek safety in the world's largest single air raid shelter—the Place des Fetes station of the city's subway system, pictured at right, above. Running along the center of the roof is a conduit for filtered air. It is fed by the battery of machines at left, which can suck in and clean 8,000 to 10,000 cubic meters of air an hour.

Fateful Hours Of Allied Retreat—Waiting For Boats

Allied troops evacuating Flanders spent nerve-wracking hours, awaiting rescue boats from England. Here, according to British censor, are thousands of French and British soldiers on the Dunkerque beach.

Duke Dies In Battle

According to an announcement to members of his household in London, the Duke of Northumberland has been killed while serving with the British Army in Flanders. The Duke, 27 years old, succeeded his father to the ancient dukedom in 1930 and held a commission in one of Britain's crack infantry regiments.

50 Dive Bombers For Allies

Part of the group of fifty Curtiss dive-bombers, released by the United States navy so that they can be rushed to the aid of the Allies, are shown drawn up in front of the Curtiss hangar at the Buffalo airport, where they are being overhauled. To sidestep legal technicalities, the U.S. navy which purchased the planes as reserve scout bombers, traded them back to the manufacturer for new models which will be delivered at a later date. A closeup of the Curtiss dive-bomber is also shown. It has a range of under 1,000 miles, according to reports, and the planes must therefore be transported overseas by ship. They will probably be delivered to a Canadian port.

Fights Fifth Column

DR. ALFREDO BALDOMIR, president of Uruguay, is reported to have requested the aid of the United States in combating Nazi fifth column activities in the South American republic. Within the last few weeks there have been sensational revelations of Nazi activity in Uruguay. Plans are said to have been uncovered revealing Nazi designs on strategic centres, such as air fields, river ports and railroad junctions. There have been several arrests. Last week the U.S.S. Quincy, one of United States latest cruisers, went south on a "good-will mission."

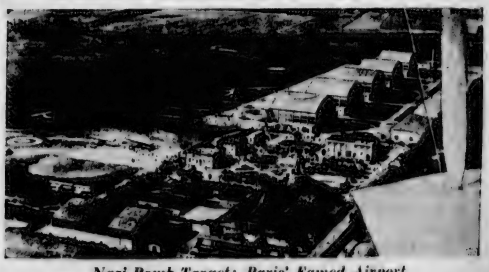

B.E.F. Equipment Nazis Didn't Get

Although the Germans captured tons of equipment in defeating the Allied armies in Flanders, there was quite a bit they didn't get. Some of it is seen above—piles of rifles rescued B.E.F. members carried back with them and piled up on the dock when they arrived in England.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

High Flame As U.S. Sees Tradition

WHEN you're right up close something all your life, you generally miss some of the more significant aspects.

I doubt if the average citizen in these parts saw anything significant in the 161st running of the English Derby on Wednesday or in the way that soccer, rugger and cricket is being carried on as regularly as possible in the British Isles these days.

We're too closely connected with the old land to see anything of the brilliant flame of spirit that towers above these sport events like a beacon.

But other peoples and nations saw what we failed to recognize. Henry McLemore, brilliant American feature writer of the United Press, paid a stirring tribute to old England on the day of the Derby.

Henry wrote:

"Eighteen three-year-olds were named today for the 161st running of the English Derby to be renewed at Newmarket tomorrow.

"To me this was the most heartening word that had come from Great Britain in quite a while. Though it did not come from any government or military headquarters, it told eloquently of a people's spirit; of a spirit which, in the darkest hour, refused to yield even to the extent of calling off a horse race.

"The one and only compromise the British made in holding their beloved derby was to move it from London's Epsom Downs to Newmarket, some 72 miles away, where interruption by air raid would not be so likely.

"To me, the colts who went to the post in the derby today represented more than just race horses. It doesn't take a maudlin man to read into their high held heads and their proud step the symbol of a proud nation.

"This was thoroughbred racing at its very best. Thoroughbreds sent out by thoroughbreds."

Tradition Pays Off In Pinch

FRANKLY I have never been deeply impressed by the iron adherence to tradition that governs in the old country. I couldn't see any particular value in this rigid following of custom and unfortunately I never ran into an Englishman who really understood its value himself. He also was too close to it to recognize its significant features.

But now I begin to get a glimmering of the tremendous part it has played in empire. Doing a thing exactly as it was done by Englishmen three centuries ago—and has been done ever since—builds an unshakeable sense of stability into a people.

Windows along the English channel coast rattle from the blasts of bombs and cannon on the battlefields of France. Power-mad maniacs rip and tear at the mighty foundation stones of democracy and freedom that were cemented into the despot-ridden continent of Europe by the blood of gallant Frenchmen who died for a high ideal. Britain pours her men and wealth across the channel in a constant stream to keep those foundation stones firm. Nightly blackouts, enemy bombs, barricaded roads and streets all tell every man, woman and child in the old land that a black hour of crisis has struck.

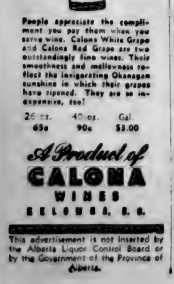

A lesser breed would tremble and break under this strain. But England just tightens its belt, punches harder and harder—and plays soccer, cricket and rugger and runs its historic races. They figured that it was important that the Derby should be run in order that tradition and continuity be maintained.

If Hitler has the smallest grain of perception in his mental equipment, the running of the Derby should be deeply discouraging to him. It should tell him that England hasn't the slightest doubt about winning the war and carrying on its sacred traditions as usual after the last shot is fired. The hollowing, chest-thumping and initial gains scored by a tasteless bully may have satisfied other peoples out of their wits, but England hasn't turned a hair.

The British Isles have seen other power-mad maniacs on the loose in Europe and other parts of the world before. Napoleon had his way for awhile, the Spaniards got chesty, and so on. But after they were all whittled down and buried, folks in England were still playing cricket, and racing their horses the same as before while the rest of the world rejoiced under the Pax Brittanica and made fun of Englishmen and their quaint ways.

U.S. GOLFERS PLAN CONTEST FOR RYDER CUP

TOLEDO, June 14.—It looks as if the American Ryder cup golf team, euchred out of its match with England by the war, will see action after all. The 10-man team will play for the British, not against them, if plans formulated Thursday materialize.

Gene Sarazen, stocky veteran who lost the National Open in Sunday's playoff with Lawson Little at Cleveland, counted off 10 professionals on his fingers and said:

WOULD AID RED CROSS

"Now there's a team that could give our Ryder cup team a trimming, and we hereby issue a challenge, with all the receipts to go to the Red Cross."

Walter Hagen, who has captained every one of the U.S. Ryder Cup teams, accepted the defy. Fred Corcoran, tournament manager for the Professional Golfers' Association, promptly wired four cities for bids on the proposed match.

SARAZEN NAMES TEAM

Sarazen named himself as playing captain of the challengers, and backed himself up with Little, the National Open king; Ed Oliver, Jimmy Demaret, Ben Hogan, Clayton Heafner, Craig Wood, Lloyd Mangrum, Jimmy Thomson and Tommy Armour.

Members of the Ryder Cup team are Hagen, non-playing captain; Byron Nelson, Henry Picard, Dick Metz, "Jug" McSpaden, Horton Smith, Ralph Guldahl, Vic Ghezzi, Jimmy Hines, Sam Snead and Paul Runyan.

Cleveland Baseball Players Demand Ousting Of Team Manager Oscar Vitt

CLEVELAND, June 15.—Veteran members of Cleveland Indians Thursday personally laid before President Alva Bradley a demand that Manager Oscar Vitt be fired. The mass protest, believed unprecedented in major league baseball history, came as a majority of the players confronted Bradley on their return from a disastrous eastern trip where they lost eight of 13 games.

The players told Bradley they could not play the kind of baseball of which they are capable as long as Vitt remained at the helm. Their charges, according to the Plain Dealer, included insincerity, ridiculing of players and caustic criticism.

Although the meeting was kept secret, Bradley later admitted that "a few of the boys wanted certain things corrected."

"Naturally I am going to look into the matter," Bradley said. "But until I have investigated thoroughly I can't say what action will be taken."

Vitt

PILOT VITT AMAZED

Vitt, informed of the protest by reporters, was amazed and at first thought it was a joke.

Hearing the details he said "I thought I had the full co-operation of all my players." He reserved further comment until he could confer with Bradley.

It was learned that a few Indians were not at the meeting, absentees including Beau Bell and Al Smith, acquired this season, and rookies Lou Boudreau, Ray Mack, Clarence Campbell and Mike Naymick.

"They (the absentees) didn't want any part of the protest," a spokesman for the group declared, "and we were glad they didn't."

OWNER BRADLEY SILENT

Bradley refused to divulge the nature of the charges. However, the Plain Dealer said the protesters made three accusations.

That Vitt had ridiculed his players in conversations with newspaper writers, fans and opposing players and managers.

That he had undermined the confidence and spirit of the individuals by sarcastic comments on their failures.

That he had proved himself insincere in his dealings with the players.

TROUBLE LAST YEAR

That his antics have made him a laughing stock among other teams and that the Indians have lost dignity and pride thereby.

That he has persisted in comparing the Indians unfavorably with minor league teams he has managed, notably Newark Bears of 1937 who won the International League pennant by 23½ games.

Undercurrent rumblings against Vitt nearly reached the surface last season, but Bradley stepped in and signed him to a new contract. The Indians then finished strong and took third place.

Beeby Scores Hole-In-One At Red Deer

Ed Beeby of the Highlands Golf Club chalked up a hole-in-one on Sunday at the Red Deer Golf and Country Club to add his name to the envied roll of those who have found their tee shot at the bottom of the cup.

The shot was made during a match between the Calgary and Edmonton offices of the Imperial Optical Company. Beeby got his ace on the 13th and carded a crisp 72 for the round. Chris. Gittins, G. Oliver and R. Baker were the other members of the Edmonton team playing with Beeby—and they beat the Calgarians.

Calgary Horse Provides Upset At Winnipeg Races

WINNIPEG, June 14.—A victory for Royal Cup, the game seven-year-old gelding owned by W. G. Trevenen of Calgary, brought a bright spot to an otherwise featureless card at the Whittier Park race meet Thursday.

Royal Cup easily won the first race and rewarded its few backers with $71.05 for winning tickets. The gelding provided the big boost to the daily double and when Fair Eugenia, the favorite, won the third race the pay-off in that pool was $158.55.

Dunrode and Marelius made a show of their field in the seventh race. Dunrode, scoring its second straight win in the mud, finishing 4½ lengths in front and Marelius was another five lengths ahead of Society Editor, the third horse. Winning tickets in the quinella paid $29.60.

BRIARIUS WINS AGAIN

Briarius showed a liking for the track in the featured fifth race and won by five lengths. It was the second straight win for the gelding, which is by Sun Briar, the sire of Sun Beau, one of the leading money winners of the United States turf.

Beauty Verse won the second race in a blanket finish with Sky Saint and Miss Putter. There was a nose between first and second and a head between second and third.

Canusee took the fourth race by six lengths and Opera Stick the sixth by a length.

E. Shea, the meet's leading jockey, was without a winner for the second straight day. The day's leader was Stewart, who was leading jockey at Agua Caliente during the winter. He brought in two winners.

Field Seeks Crown Long Held By Martell

SIXTY shotmakers had signed on the dotted line for the city amateur golf championship struggle, which opens at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club this weekend, when officials completed the draw for the qualifying round last night.

It is expected, however, that the list of competitors will be greatly increased by post entries which will be accepted at the tee up until 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

Henry Martell will defend the city title and attempt to score his fifth victory.

He was given a brilliant battle by Bobby Manahan in the final last year and for a time it looked as if the young ace from the Municipal Club would make history by dethroning Henry. However, he shanked a couple of critical shots and the smooth-stroking Martell came through to another championship.

While Bobby Manahan has not yet filed an entry form, he is expected to be present when the firing starts on Saturday afternoon.

There were not enough entries to warrant a separate city junior championship being staged, so juniors will be permitted to play in the regular competition.

First and second rounds of the tourney will be played on Sunday, the third round during the week at the convenience of players, and the semi-finals and finals next weekend.

Following is the draw for the qualifying round:

7:00 a.m.—L. Greer, N. McPherson, E. Beeby.
7:05 a.m.—A. Allard, B. D. Kilburn, D. Pedersky.
1:30 p.m.—H. Martell, A. W. Matthews, E. McFadyen.

CALLIES PLAY SCONAS IN CUP TILT SATURDAY

Callies and Scona United will stage the Edmonton playdown in the Dominion soccer football competition Saturday evening, at 7 o'clock, at Clarke Stadium. The victors will meet Civics June 22, to decide which team will journey to Calgary to oppose the winner of the Calgary-Lethbridge series for the Alberta representation in the provincial playoffs.

Saturday's game will mark the first appearance in the Canadian competition for several contestants as most of the Callie and Scona players graduated from junior company this season. Three of the Callies and four of Sconas still are within the junior age limit of 21 years. Dave McAra, clever Callie outside right winger, played hockey for Maple Leaf juniors last winter.

This will be the fourth clash of the Callies and Sconas this year. Scots trumphed in the Martin Vets' Cup event 1-0 and in the first league game 4-1. They battled 45 minutes without scoring Wednesday night in a league fixture that was halted by rain.

Both elevens will be at full strength for their important Cup contest Saturday, which augurs for a lively struggle. Players are urged to be on hand by 6:30 p.m.

THE LINEUPS:

Scona—R. Carter, R. Waring, G. McIntosh, F. Gardner, J. Thompson, S. Smitten, A. Scott, C. Francis, D. Love, T. Scott, C. Pickles and P. James.

Callies—G. McGlynn, D. Whitely, R. Barson, T. Herrison, S. Olander, J. Sullivan, D. McAra, T. Gardner, D. Campbell, G. Kerr, A. Anderson and W. Houston.

Referee—W. Gordon. Linesmen—C. Scuch and J. Thompson.

Welders and Leafs Play Ball Saturday

The top place Medico Welders and Maple Leafs are scheduled for a Men's Senior Softball League game Friday, at 7 p.m., at Kingsway Stadium. Welders have registered five straight victories, while Leafs have won three and lost two.

The doubleheader scheduled for Thursday night featuring E.A.C. and Macaulee juniors, and Mouse-Rosedale Cub seniors was postponed owing to wet grounds.

Girls' Senior Ball Clubs Play Tonight

Avenue Aces and Buffaloes clash tonight, at 7 o'clock, in a Girls' Senior Softball League game at Kingsway Stadium. Victory for Aces would put them on even terms with Buffaloes and a win for the Oldring tribe would advance them to within half a game of the leading Pats.

CLEVELAND REGAINS SECOND PLACE IN BALL RACE

Gehringer's Errors Beat Tigers In 10th

CLEVELAND, June 14.—Cleveland's slump-ridden Indians regained second place from Detroit in the American Baseball League Thursday by shading the Tigers, 3-2, behind southpaw Al Smith in the day's only major league game.

With two out in the 10th and Roy (Beau) Bell on second by virtue of a two-bagger, Ben Chapman grounded to second baseman Charlie Gehringer, who fumbled and then threw wild to first to permit Bell to count the winning run.

The clutch pitching of Smith was best demonstrated in the Tigers' half of the 10th when Gehringer's double and singles by Hank Greenberg and Rudy York filled the bases with nobody out. Smith induced Mike Higgins to hit to shortstop, forcing Gehringer at the plate, and killed the threat by coaxing Pete Fox to hit to him, doubling Higgins off first.

Return To Old Form

When the 1939 Major Baseball League season finished critics thought this former New York Giant keystone sack pair were on their way to the minors. Donning a Detroit Tiger uniform has resulted in Shortstop Dick Bartell, pictured in action above, displaying the brilliant form that caused him to be rated the best National League shortstop when with the Giants. Burgess Whitehead, shown at upper right, has recovered from a nervous breakdown and is doing a great job at third base for Terry's Giants after being switched from second base.

Veteran Infielders Make Tigers, Giants Contenders

CHICAGO, June 14.—Burgess Whitehead and Richard Bartell, two big league infielders rated as "washed up" a year ago, are in the blue chips again.

Whitehead is playing third base for New York Giants as if he had never played anywhere else. Bartell is giving Detroit the finest shortstopping in the American League. It is no coincidence that the Tigers and Giants, both raised as longshot pennant contenders, are near the top of their respective circuits.

Detroit sent Bill Rogell to Chicago Cubs last December for Bartell after the 33-year-old National Leaguer, a victim of ankle trouble, had made 33 errors in 101 games. This season he has played in every one of Detroit's 45 games, has gathered only three times and only once in his last 31 games. Bartell is hitting only .234, but connects with men on bases.

FIELDS, BATS BRILLIANTLY

Whitehead, one of the more brilliant cogs in the Giants' flag-winning teams of 1936 and 1937, suffered a nervous breakdown in 1938 and was out all year. Last season he played 85 games, but was below his old form, batting .239 and fielding sub-par. This year in 43 games, he has made five errors and regained his batting eye at .305.

Brooklyn Fans Jubilant Over Medwick, Davis Deal

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 14.—If a pennant can be bought Brooklyn Dodgers have just bought one. Everybody in Brooklyn from Larry MacPhail down to the batboy bubbled with enthusiasm over the transaction that brought outfielder Joe Medwick and pitcher Curt Davis to the Dodgers.

Thousands of fans swarmed around the club's headquarters at Ebbets field and in downtown Brooklyn. All reserved seats for the three-day series with Cincinnati Reds starting today were quickly disposed of and there was a run on tickets for the following series with St. Louis Cardinals.

BOOST PRICE OF TICKETS

The best guesses on the amount paid the Cardinals in the deal Wednesday night ranged in the neighborhood of $150,000. The club has scaled the prices of its upper-grandstand seats up one-third for the Cincinnati series and besides the sell-out with the Reds is sure of another for a night game with the Cards next Wednesday.

Medwick and Davis, who awakened in Buffalo Thursday morning to find that they were no longer Redbirds, were so eager to join their new team that they jumped the train and took a plane to New York, arriving in midafternoon several hours before they were expected by Dodger officials.

EXPECT "DUCKY" TO STAR

Veluble Leo Durocher was so overjoyed at completion of the trade that all he could gush forth was:

"I know Medwick. I ought to. I roomed with him for six years. For us he'll hustle three times as much and be twice as good a hitter as he was in St. Louis."

Durocher said he would be installed in the cleanup spot in the batting order starting today and would play left field.

The Dodgers also expect considerable aid from Davis, who won 22 games for the Cards last season. Although he has failed to score a single victory this spring, Brooklyn officials say he will win for them.

COAST FOOTBALL CONFERENCE AIDS SMALL COLLEGES

SUN VALLEY, Idaho, June 14.—In one of the most important pieces of legislation in its 2-year history, the Pacific Coast Conference Thursday paved the way for its two "orphan" members, the universities of Idaho and Montana, to become future football championship contenders and Rose Bowl nominees.

Geographical and financial barriers were broken down by faculty representatives of the ten-college conference in adopting a "four year plan" which filled out Idaho and Montana schedules.

Beginning in 1942, the two northeastern members each will play two gridiron contests against California teams during each season. Added games will give them strong schedules of five to six conference clashes.

The 1940-41 schedules already have been adopted and the play will not become effective until 1942. In that year Idaho will play University of California at Los Angeles and Stanford at Palo Alto. During the same season, Montana will meet California at Berkeley and Southern California at Los Angeles.

In 1942, the schools will reverse opponents in the south.

CARDS PAID MORE FOR "DIZZY" THAN DAVIS, MEDWICK

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—Sam Breadon sold Thursday night St. Louis Cardinals did not receive as much money from Brooklyn Dodgers for Joe Medwick and Curt Davis as they did from Chicago Cubs for Dizzy Dean.

Otherwise the president of the Cardinals remained steadfast in his refusal to disclose the amount paid by Brooklyn in the sensational deal.

The Cards were paid $185,000 in the Dean deal, in which the Cubs also turned over to the St. Louis club players—Davis, Clyde Shoun and George Stainback.

Closeups of the amount received by the Cardinals for Medwick and Davis, besides the four Brooklyn players, ranged from $185,000 to $170,000.

APPOINTMENT RALSTON GETS FULL SANCTION

Change Indicates Reorganization Of Government To Be Delayed

By GRANT DEXTER
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, June 14 — The announcement that Hon. J. L. Ralston will take over the department of national defence, in succession to the late Hon. Norman Rogers, has been unreservedly approved in eastern Canada and on Parliament Hill.

The change, while permanent insofar as Col. Ralston is concerned, indicated that the reorganization of the government would not be delayed until the war situation becomes clearer. The present intention, it is learned, is to appoint Hon. J. L. Ilsley, now minister of national revenue, to be acting minister of finance just as soon as the budget is brought down.

Mr. Ralston is expected to bring down the budget and the estimates over his department to Mr. Ilsley. Mr. Ilsley will be acting minister of finance until Parliament is in a position to reorganization or until a new minister of finance is brought in as part of larger reorganization.

There appears to be two possible courses of action in the mind of Prime Minister King. On the one hand, he may leave Mr. Ilsley to handle the two departments, and promote two Ontario members to the cabinet, to fill the two vacancies in the postoffice and transport departments. Or, if he believes this necessary, he may go outside the parliamentary party and call in new blood to fill the three vacancies—finance, postoffice and transport. At the moment the first alternative seems to be likelier.

SCRAP IRON MAY BE SAVED FOR USE OF ALLIES

British United Press Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

WASHINGTON, June 14 — The United States administration was reported today to be preparing to embargo shipments of scrap iron—lifeblood of munitions factories—to all foreign countries except Great Britain and France.

Authority for such a step is contained in legislation approved yesterday by the American house and house conferees. Under it, the President may embargo shipments of any materials essential to the United States defence preparations.

Informed sources say President Roosevelt will not hesitate to set up a quota system under which he can shut off further shipments to Italy and Russia and divert the Allies free to buy the scrap iron.

Twenty Survivors Of Greek Vessel Now Reach Safety

SANTIAGO, Spain, June 14 — Twenty survivors of a Greek merchantman, the Volando Goulandris, 3,598 tons, torpedoed about 220 miles off Cape Finisterre, Spain, by a submarine of unknown nationality arrived at the small Spanish fishing village of Muro Thursday. The captain and seven others were missing.

Eleven survivors of another Greek ship, the Mount Hymettus, 5,820 tons, arrived at Galician village near Vigo, Thursday after being picked up yesterday by the Yugoslav ship Sud 40 miles off Silleiro. Thirteen other members of the crew were picked up by a ship en route to Lisbon.

The Mount Hymettus was sunk Monday by a submarine 150 miles west of Cape Finisterre while en route from Bilbao, Spain, to the United States, without cargo.

VETERAN NAMED NEW VICE CHIEF OF AIR COMMAND

British United Press Exclusive Cable to The Edmonton Bulletin

LONDON, Eng., June 14—Twenty-seven years after he first gained his "pilot's ticket," Air Marshal R. F. C. Peirse has been appointed vice-chief of the air staff by the British Air Ministry.

A veteran who knew and flew the old "jennys," Air Marshal Peirse takes over a post created to meet the increased pressure of present-day warfare brought about by modern warplanes. His appointment is in line with the 24-hour schedule now being maintained by the Allied fighting services.

Air Marshal Peirse is a son of Admiral Sir Richard Peirse, and he saw his first service with the navy. He was a sub-lieutenant in the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve when he answered an Admiralty call for officers to fly airplanes. He was quick to learn, and 25 years ago won the D.S.O. for his work in attacking German submarines at Ostend and Zeebrugge from the air.

BOATS AND FOODS

In each of the 20 word-pairs below, Webster's dictionary gives one as a "boat-word" and the other as a "food-or-fodder word." Counting 5 points for each such word identified, you may score 30 points by merely guessing. But if you actually recognize some of the words, your score may be much higher. Cross out the "food-word" in each pair and thus see how many "boat-words" you can identify and how high a score you can get, out of a possible total of 100 points.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE.

LIFE ON THE FARM

This solution is reached (after the loose letters are glued back into place) simply by moving Block 3 to the left of Nos. 1 and 2, keeping the S on top as it is now; then give a single turn to Block 2, so the W is on top, to spell SOW on the three top faces. The other faces then read as shown above.

M'GILLIVRAY REPORT FAVORS OIL COMPANIES

moving from Saskatchewan and Manitoba refineries to Winnipeg.

The report recommends that an application now outstanding before the transport board in this connection should be proceeded with.

In connection with refining, the commission reports that competition between local refiners is a safeguard against unreasonably high prices; that the tank car price is in line and that the rate of return on invested capital is not so high as to indicate a need for reduction in price at the present time.

PRUDENT INVESTMENTS

With reference to marketing, the commission reports that the capital invested in this branch of the business was actually and prudently invested. It further reports that after inquiry into all the various phases of marketing that the rate of return on capital employed in marketing operations is reasonable and it accepts Dr. Frey's evidence that the Alberta consumer is not paying more for petroleum than any other consumer in Northern America in considering the geography in which he lives.

With respect to taxation, the report states that reduction in retail price of gasoline may easily be brought about by a reduction of the gasoline tax. It states that "tax evasion by farmers is assuming the proportions of a public scandal" and that the coupon system now in use for tax rebates to farmers facilitates and encourages tax evasion. The commission recommends that the use of colored gasoline for tax exemption purposes should not be adopted.

AGAINST PRICE FIXING

With regard to price fixing, the commission recommends against this and points out that if the tank car prices had been reduced by only 1c per gallon on 1938 all Imperial Oil's refining operating profits would have been wiped out and a loss substituted therefore; it points out further that if the bulk sales (wholesale prices) had been reduced 1c, Imperial Oil's marketing operations would have returned only 2.8% on the investment and it says that as Imperial Oil was the low cost marketer, such reduction would have meant that no other marketer could long remain in business.

The report finds that the industry has done well in the matter of price cutting without any compulsion.

MUST PROTECT PUBLIC

The commission writes that "It seems to us that day of the gouging of enormous fortunes through the medium of exorbitant prices out of a helpless public is gone and that the day has come when it must be recognized that the government as the representative of the public is concerned with protecting the public interest and so is concerned to see to it where competition does not do the work of keeping prices within reasonable bounds, that there is government control to ensure that the public do not suffer in consequence.

"This may well happen when the assumed competition is non-existent or nominal or collusive. . . . It is not well that competition should be regulated by particular groups in any industry and we think that there was good reason behind the public opinion which compelled the passage of anti-trust laws for which there could have been no need whatever if the bare opportunity to compete, which was open to everyone in the land, was an adequate protection for the public.

"We undoubtedly have said enough to show that it is our view that no one should be allowed to remain or become a business buccaneer while a member of society without the other members of which he could not live and it is our hope that we have said enough to show that it is only our view that the domination of any industry when it has not been shown that its operation is such as to be out of harmony with a fair deal for the public is both unwise and unjust."

The commission advises against creation of any government body with mandatory powers and recommends against government entering into or regulating the industry.

PREMIER'S COMMENT

Premier William Aberhart made the following statement in connection with the release of the report:

"The report of the McGillivray Commission which has been released today is a voluminous document. Nothing can be made of the rest of our citizens in anything affecting the oil industry and for the purpose of assisting the public in reading the report, the government desires to call attention to some of the more important findings.

"1. In the month of October, 1938, the government appointed this commission to inquire into the oil industry, one of the most important in the province, to ascertain all of the pertinent facts in order to guide the government in its future policies in connection therewith. The intention was to put the industry on a basis that occurres in a position where they would be economically and satisfactorily functioning for the interests of the industry itself and of the public generally.

"The inquiry has been most exhaustive, extending over a period of about eighteen months and has been conducted at considerable expense to the province.

REDUCTIONS NOW MADE

"2. The government desires to call attention to the fact that during the sittings of the commission and commencing about ten months after its appointment very appreciable reductions were made in the price of gasoline. The first was made in July, 1939. This was a reduction in the wholesale price of third grade gasoline and tractor distillate. It has resulted already in an estimated saving to the consumers of these products alone of $135,000.00. A second and larger reduction was made in October, 1939. This was a reduction in the price of Ethyl gasoline of 1c per gallon and of standard gasoline of ½c per gallon. It has resulted in an estimated saving to consumers of these gasolines. The two price reductions therefore have resulted in and will continue to produce an estimated saving to Alberta consumers of $400,000.00 per annum.

"With regard to the future price of gasoline it is noted that the commissioners have not been able, in their final report, to recommend any further reduction at present prices. However, with this comprehensive and informative analysis in its possession the government will continue, through the proper officials, to keep a close check on costs and profits both in refining and marketing, and the posting company is being notified that a further reduction in price is expected to be made at the earliest possible moment.

"3. It has been the policy of this government that, consistent with progressive and orderly development, the people of the province should benefit to the greatest possible extent from the exploitation of our natural resources and upon this basis the government holds that the oil industry in this province be required to pay a somewhat larger amount to the provincial revenues than it now does. For this reason it is the government's view that there is no justification for an increase in the existing royalty on crude oil to the extent which the commissioners recommend, namely from $1.20 to $1.25 per barrel. This increase would single out the producer as the sole beneficiary of the whole of the saving totalling 5c per barrel, brought about by the reduction in pipeline and loading charges made on 2nd July, 1939, as a result of the recommendations contained in the interim report of the commission. Further the government feels that the existing price of $1.20 must have been, before the appointment of the commission, a fair price in the sense that on the one hand it seemed to be high enough to provide an adequate incentive for development and on the other hand it effectively displaced American crudes in Alberta and Saskatchewan refineries.

WILL PROTECT PEOPLE

"4. The government will undertake to do whatever is necessary to see that a greater share of benefit accrues to the people of the province from the development of our petroleum and natural gas resources but at the same time it is prepared to permit a fair share of the aforesaid saving to be passed on to the producer for the purpose of further encouraging development.

"5. In accordance with the recommendation of the commissioners with respect to the advisability of introducing standards for petroleum products it is to be noted that the Research Council of Alberta has had this matter in hand for some time under the direction of the minister of trade and industry and the government is therefore ready to proceed with its proposed policy. It is the government's intention to submit the proposed standards to the industry and invite the industry's comments before putting the standards into force.

"6. The government will give early consideration to the commissioners' recommendation that certain additional duties be imposed on the petroleum and natural gas conservation board. These duties have to do with the supervision of all branches of the industry including production, refining and marketing.

PETROLEUM RESEARCH

"7. The government is fully cognizant of the fact that the oil industry has reached the stage in its development where there is a definite need for a greater number of technically trained men in all branches of the industry. It is therefore the government's intention to set up in the provincial university a chair of petroleum engineering to provide adequate training for local men and also to establish a department of petroleum research which would be available to the various branches of the industry and would particularly serve to encourage further development of new oil fields."

HARRY BRIDGES

To Be Deported

WASHINGTON, June 14—The United States House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate Thursday a bill to deport Harry Bridges, the Congress of Industrial Organizations maritime leader on the west coast.

The measure would require the attorney general to take Bridges into custody and deport him to his native Australia. It also carried a declaration that congress deems his presence in the United States "hurtful".

ELIMINATION AIR SERVICES IS PROPOSED

Dominion Would Stop Duplication To Release War Pilots, Save Fuel

The board of transport commissioners will study the possibility of eliminating duplication of northern air services in order to release planes for training use and to conserve the country's supply of high-grade aviation fuels, according to a report received from Ottawa.

The Ottawa announcement stated that while essential mail and passenger services to the north would be continued, it was proposed that all duplications be eliminated as quickly as possible. The board of transport commissioners will hold a series of meetings here starting June 26 to hear representations from operators and other groups to help them determine just which services should be eliminated.

TRAINING PLAN

Commercial aviation companies which have blazed trails into the hidden places of Canada's great northland are going to play an important part in training pilots and aircrews for war service, it was revealed here Friday by Capt. W. R. Wop May, O.B.E., a veteran ace of the last war and district supervisor for Canadian Airways.

His company will provide all the planes and flying service for the air observers' school which is to be established in Edmonton, he said, although the instructors will be provided by the R.C.A.F.

In his statement regarding the training school Capt. May said that his company would provide the planes and pilots which would take these courses—for flying classrooms—aloft where R.C.A.F. instructors would give their lectures. The company will be responsible for the maintenance of the aircraft, operation costs and other associated costs, receiving a grant from the government to cover this.

RELEASES PLANES

Reason for using commercial air companies for this work is that it releases all military planes for military purposes. To confiscate the commercial planes would interfere with essential services. This is a compromise arrangement which suits everyone.

THIEVES LEAVE LOTS OF CLUES IN GARAGE THEFT

Thieves who burglarized the premises of Green's Garage, 123 street and 127 avenue, early Friday and got away with a case of oil, a drum, an eight-gallon cream can and a five-gallon can containing cleaning fluid, left a lot of clues behind, according to police reports.

Det. Sgt. Dan Cameron and Const. Irvine, who examined the premises after discovering that entry had been made by breaking a pane of glass, found fresh tire marks of a car outside in the soft ground, a card printed by a clothing merchant and the distinct footprint of a woman.

Police are also following up the simultaneous theft of an auto stolen from Art Bentley 10633 124 street. This machine, a 1938 Plymouth sedan is thought to have been used by the garage burglars, according to information that detectives have received.

The car license number is 63-063. Union Oil Products Service Station at 118 avenue and St. Albert trail was entered during the night Thursday by some person who wrigled through a small window after smashing the glass. Nothing was stolen. Police found the button from a windbreaker and finger prints on furniture inside the building.

Masons Install Lodge Officers At Communication

With all the colorful ritual and ceremony of the Masonic order, Sam Harris, High Prairie, was installed as grand master of the Alberta Grand Lodge, A.F. and A.M., in the closing ceremonies of the Grand Lodge communication which concluded a two-day session at the Masonic Temple Thursday.

Investiture of the following officers was made also at the concluding session: Deputy grand master, George F. Ellis, Calgary; senior grand warden, F. P. Galbraith, Red Deer; junior grand warden, Russell J. Bradley, Edmonton; grand secretary, J. H. W. S. Kemmis, Calgary; and grand treasurer, Maj. A. J. Davies, Calgary.

More than 400 representatives of Masonic lodges in Alberta attended the communication. Calgary was selected as the venue for the 1941 meeting.

LIBRARIAN IS KEEPING TAB GERMAN BOOKS

German language books in the Edmonton public library, while not withdrawn from circulation are being watched closely, it is stated by Chief Librarian Hugh Gourlay. Since the start of the war some English language books of German authorship, written with an obvious propaganda intent, have been withdrawn from circulation but it has not been necessary here to follow the action of Winnipeg library officials and order the burning of German books.

No German books have been added to the library here for the past two years, the librarian explained. Four shelves of books of the German classic type are still in the reading students. It is obvious that these contain no propaganda.

Close observation is being made of the persons who take any books of German origin, however, Mr. Gourlay stated.

Only Italian book in this library is a dictionary and it is not felt that it will be necessary to withdraw this from circulation.

WINNIPEG, June 14—German books in the Winnipeg public library will be burned or withdrawn from public view as the result of a resolution passed by the city library committee.

Mrs. C. D. Roblin, committee member who moved the resolution, explained that the books to be burned were "undoubtedly" propaganda, and, as such, were neither desirable nor necessary to the library."

A. F. Jamieson, chief librarian, said that books which were withdrawn from the display cases were German classics. These would still be available for students of the language, he said.

Cash Stolen From Deposit Book In City Meat Market

Police are searching for a brazen thief who stole approximately $50 in cash and negotiable paper from a bank deposit book on the counter of a Jasper Avenue meat market.

Complaint was made by W. Shearing, proprietor of a meat market at 10111 Jasper Ave., who stated he had made up his bank deposit at about 1 p.m. Thursday, the deposit consisting of nine $5 bills, one $2 bill and two dollars of $1.68 and $1.35, the former a cheamery cheque, and the latter a C.N.R. Express cheque.

The money and cheques were inside his bankbook which Mr. Shearing left on the end of his counter for a moment while he stepped inside a cooler with John Boumeester, a customer. When he returned the book was still where he left it on the counter but the contents were gone.

Paul Gray, another employee, was working in the rear of the store and did not see any one enter or leave at the time of the robbery.

Major-General J. H. Minahull-Ford is to be lieutenant-governor of Guernsey in the Channel Islands.
